Peace Prospects Seen More Gloomy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apparent collapse of another Vietnamese peace effort has brought fresh promises from President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk that they will persist in trying to move the war to the conference table.

But Washington officials view the prospects for success as growing constantly more gloomy.

At the same time, however, administration leaders reportedly believe the United States is now ahead of Hanoi in the battle for world opinion as a result of Hanoi's spurning peace proposals from Johnson and U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

In a guarded reference to this diplomatic and propaganda side of the conflict, Rusk told a news conference Tuesday: "If Hanoi supposes that somehow international opinion will come to their rescue, surely they must know that when they rebuff the United Nations organization. . . this will not bring them support in other parts of the world."

At the White House, Johnson said in addressing a luncheon that the United States had given a "positive. . . definite. . affirmative" reply to a three-point peace plan advanced by Thant March 14.

Monday, Johnson said, "We regretfully learned from Radio Hanoi that they were informing the world that they were apparrently not prepared to accept the secretary-general's proposal."

The Hanoi broadcast denounced the United States as the "aggressor" in Vietnam, and declared that "the United Nations has absolutely no right to interfere in any way with the Vietnam question."

Thant said Tuesday in New York that his plan had not been categorically turned down by North Vietnam. Diplomats here took this mainly as an indication he intended to make a new appeal to the North Vietnamese government for reconsideration of its position.

Thant said again Tuesday night in New York, "Once the bombing of North Vietnam is stopped there will be meaningful talks in a matter of a few weeks."

He said "in my view unconditional cessation of bombing implies that the bombing must not be linked with any reciprocity on the part of North Vietnam." He said he did not consider North Vietnam's demand for unconstitutional cessation of bombing as meaning a halt must "last two years, or 10 years — that is unrealistic."

Thant's latest plan called for a "general stand-still truce," preliminary talks on reviving the 1954 Geneva Conference which originally divided Vietnam, and reconvening the Geneva Conference as a forum for actual peace-making.

★ ★ ★ Hanoi Spurns Proposal ★ ★ ★

The United States accepted it in a note to Thant March 18. The note was made public Tuesday along with the text of Thant's proposal.

Johnson said he hoped that Thant was correct in believing that North Vietnam had not rejected the plan categorically. But the President himself considered that Hanoi's response constituted an apparent turndown.

Rusk's news conference, by contrast with Thant's refusal to concede total collapse of his effort, stressed the U.S. contention that North Vietnam has once more slammed the door on a bid for settlement.

Rusk declared that North Vietnam has brushed aside appeals from many neutral countries, the Pope, Thant, and many others in addition to his rejection of President Johnson's direct appeal to him for these talks. But, Rusk said, "we are not calling the search for a peaceful settlement to an end.

"We shall continue that effort by public and private means," he declared.

Johnson stressed the same contention in his luncheon speech, saying, "I want everyone who can hear my voice or see my words to know that this nation will continue to persist."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the United States should demand action on its 1961 resolution asking the U.N. Security Council to consider the Vietnam issue.

"We should put the cards on the table and demand that it face up to its responsibilities," he said in an interview. "Thus far the United Nations has shown a conspicuous lack of consideration for a matter that could involve the peace of the world."

Slate Will Rival Military Leaders In Fall Election

SAIGON (AP) — One of South Vietnam's leading civilian politicians, Phan Khac Suu, announced his presidential candidacy today, setting the stage for a civilian-military contest in the Sept. 1 election.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, leaders of South Vietnam's ruling military junta, both have presidential ambitions. The currently dominant military power bloc wants one of its members elected although under the new constitution he must take off his uniform to run.

Informants say an informal show of hands at a recent meeting of the Armed Forces Council indicated Thieu was the military's favorite.

Other civilian tickets are expected to be announced.

Suu, 62, was made chief of state in October 1964 when the military attempted to create a facade of civilian rule. He resigned after eight months of military coups and other intragovernmental strife.

Judging from past performance, Suu could not be expected to follow the military line if elected. A military coup ousting him would wipe out a year's effort to advance South Vietnam toward democratic government, an effort the United States has strongly backed.

Before Suu's announcement, political analysts in Saigon anticipated that a strong military-civilian ticket would emerge. Though this is still possible, the candidacy of Suu and Dan joins two of the best known civilian possibilities.

Major Television, Radio Networks Hit By Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Federation of Television and Radio Artists struck the major television and radio networks today, but supervisory personnel kept the networks on the air by taking over news shows. Other affected programs were replaced by reruns.

In the first national strike in the 30-year history of the 18,000 member federation, picket lines went up shortly after 5 a.m. in front of the Columbia Broadcasting System, the National Broadcasting Co., the American Broadcasting Co. and the Mutual Broadcasting System and their affiliates in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Washington and at advertising agencies.

Independent stations were not affected.

Newsmen, actors, singers, dancers and announcers who are members of AFTRA went on strike in the dispute between network and 100 local newsmen and staff announcers in Los Angeles, New York and Chicago. All are on-the-air personnel, doing actual broadcasts as well as newsgathering.

In New York, ABC issued a statement which said, in part: "ABC will honor its television and radio commitments to the public by adhering as closely as possible to its broadcast schedules, including the reporting of news, through the use of supervisory personnel."

Supervisory personnel were expected to take over all news shows including those with Chet Huntley, David Brinkley, Peter Jennings and Walter Cronkite.

The dispute centers around 100 newsmen at network-owned stations in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles who are seeking a higher base salary and a larger return of commercial fees on sponsored programs on which they appear.

Two of the first big news shows to be affected by the strike were the NBC Today show from 7 a.m. till 9 a.m. and the CBS morning news with Joseph Benti from 7:05 a.m. till 7:30 a.m. In both cases, supervisory personnel took over the shows.

Hugh Downs, host of NBC's Today show, joined pickets in front of the West 49th Street entrance to the RCA Building in a heavy predawn rain.

"I came down to picket in a car NBC pays for," Downs quipped.

The news portions of the Today show were done by supervisory personnel while filmed portions were reruns of previous shows.

Three Raids Strike Near Major Port

Supply Point Hit In Second Day Of Assaults On North

SAIGON (AP) — American carrier planes hurled three raids near the major port of Haiphong Tuesday in the second day of heavy strikes against North Vietnam.

The closest target to the Communists' chief port was a supply point in the Red River delta 12 miles above the city. All-weather jets from the 7th Fleet also hit two other barge and supply points close by.

Air Force and Navy pilots flew 124 missions against North Vietnam. With Monday's strikes, it was the heaviest 48-hour pounding in almost a month.

South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky paid tribute to the Navy fliers today with a flight to the nuclear- powered carrier Enterprise, where he watched strikes take off and decorated three score American fliers. Some had just returned from North Vietnam and some were about to take off.

Flying from bases in Thailand and South Vietnam and from the carriers Enterprise, Hancock and Kitty Hawk, U.S pilots raked supply lines from the Haiphong area south to the 17th Parallel Tuesday. The weather appeared to be breaking after months of fog and rain, but overcasts still prevented bomb damage assessment, and many raids were directed with radar.

Although the U.S. military command does not reveal the number of planes in each mission, the air armada over North Vietnam Tuesday numbered close to 400 warplanes.

State Employe Pay Hike Bill OK'd By Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state employe pay raise bill described as the best in the history of the state has cleared the House and been rushed to the Senate where leaders assure it will be given top priority.

Senate Finance Chairman Robert R. Shaw R-16 Columbus, Franklin, said his committee will begin hearings next week on the emergency bill carrying substantial raises for an estimated 45,000 state employes. Highway Patrolmen, nurses, teachers in state institutions, and others in so-called "critical area" would benefit immediately on passage.

The 93-1 House vote on the pay raise bill came on a busy legislative day that also included Senate passage of a bill to control the hallucination-inducing drug LSD and introduction in the upper chamber a measure that would hike unemployment compensation payments for the first time since 1959.

Rep. Ralph E. Fisher R-24 Wayne, House finance chairman, called the state pay raise bill "by far the best employe bill in the history of Ohio."

He noted that the measure would provide hikes of 10 per cent effective July 2 and another 5 per cent a year later. The bill also would increase the pay of about 1,000 employes to $1.40 an hour to meet the new federal wage minimum and give members of the governor's cabinet handsome increases, some by as much as $10,000 a year.

Fisher estimated the cost of the entire package at $47 million in the next two years, $25 million of it from the general fund and the remaining $22 million from highway money.

Senators voted 33-0 for the measure to crack down on "pushers" of the controversial drug LSD after sponsoring Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn R-5 Dayton, Montgomery called it a drug of "horror and misery" threatening the well-being of Ohio's young people.

The bill carries a penalty of 2-15 years in prison or a fine of $10,000, or both, for sale or manufacture of L S D. That same penalty applies to narcotics offenders under present statutes.

Mrs. Weisenborn said the penalty for first-time possession was made more lenient to protect the lives and futures of those persons "who take that foolish first bite of the apple."

But she said the penalty of a $1,000 fine or six months in jail, or both, "still is quite substantial." Persons caught in possession a second time could get 1-10 years in prison. The bill now goes to the House.

The Senate also passed bills to include armed robbery under the state's habitual criminal act, boost state licensing fees for pharmacists from $5 to $10 a year, and to extend from 5 to 15 days the time allowed for filling vacancies on local boards of elections.

Commission Gets Report

Concern Launches Work On New Step In Planning

The professional planning firm of Carroll V. Hill & Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus has launched work on Phase II of East Liverpool's "master plan" program, the City Planning Commission was told during its monthly meeting at City Hall Tuesday night.

Daniel Ziegler II of P i t t s burgh, the firm's representative in charge of the local project, reported on the outset of the work. He explained that the job was launched as a result of a contract signed in F e b ruary by municipal officials and the State Development Department at Columbus.

The overall cost is approximately $9,500, with the federal government contributing $7,400 and the city paying the balance. Phase II is scheduled for completion in February 1968.

The new contract provides primarily for:

Putting in final form approximately 20 interim reports on all phases of community development that were drafted and presented to the commission in the original two years of the "master plan" study.

Producing several "public education" tools, notably a brochure for mass distribution to explain the planning program and construction of a scale model to demonstrate the rehabilitation proposed for the central business district.

In the final work of evaluating the interim reports, they will be studied and discussed again by the commission and by local committees which reviewed them and made recommendations, Ziegler said. Then they will be edited again for printing in a single document.

Ziegler said the commission should consider each report again "in depth" before publication because the finished work "should express the policy statement of the commission, not the consultant." Duplications of some material that were necessary in the widely-spaced interim reports can be eliminated when the findings a r e assembled in final form under one cover, he added.

County and state officials and others who reviewed the interim reports will be asked by letter if they have any further ideas or comments before the studies are put in final f o r m, Ziegler said.

He suggested that the committees which studied the transportation and central business district reports be asked to attend the next regular meeting on April 10. The commission has not received a final report from either of the committees, Ziegler explained.

He said he believes the com-

Tanker Set Afire By Jets' Rockets

LAND'S END, England, (AP) — British jets fired rockets into the supertanker Torrey Canyon again today, setting her shattered hulk ablaze and covering the area with a huge pall of smoke.

The wreckage had been bombed Tuesday.

A huge slick of oil that poured out of the wrecked ship was still moving. A Navy spokesman said some of it had reached the French coast.

As the fight continued at sea to destroy the tanker and the oil, thousands of troops and civilian volunteers battled pollution along the beaches of Cornwall.

All along the south coast of England local authorities set up emergency committees to deal with the oil, which threatens their lucrative summer vacation business.

Antisubmarine booms, neglected since World War II, were hastily erected at some ports and harbors to help keep out the floating oil.

As the afternoon wore on, wave after wave of bombers and fighters hit the tanker with high explosives and napalm bombs.

The objective is to blast open the oil bunkers remaining in the wreckage and then burn the oil before it can float in and add to the massive pollution wrecking England's southwest beaches and bringing death to birds and marine life in the area.

Royal Navy bombers scored more than 40 hits on and around the wreckage Tuesday, but the fire went out with the rising tide after 4½ hours.

There was no estimate of the amount of oil the fire consumed.

Lie Detector Planned For County's Use

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners have ordered a $1,457 lie detector machine at the request of Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis.

The polygraph will be operated by James R. Gause, special investigator in the prosecutor's office, who recently completed a three - week course in its use at the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation at London.

Bettis said the machine will be available to all law enforcement agencies in the county for the investigation of crimes.

"In view of recent Supreme Court decisions, it is imperative that law enforcement agencies take advantage of all t o o l s available in the investigation and prosecution of those involved in criminal activities," Bettis said.

States Fight Federal Law In Court Case

1966 Amendments To Fair Labor Act Object Of Attack

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Twenty-six states went to court today with arguments that a federal law threatens to end the federal-state system and could lead to federal control of police departments.

The case raises a question as old as the United States: Where does federal authority end and states' rights begin?

Maryland and the other states —their arguments so voluminous that a grocery cart was used to move the file—are attacking 1966 amendments to the Fair Labor Standard Act. The amendments brought some employes of states and political subdivisions under coverage of federal wage and hour provisions for the first time.

A three-judge federal panel began today a hearing on the constitutionality of the amendments and on a request by the states for an injunction to prohibit the federal government from enforcing their provisions.

The federal government has filed a motion for dismissal.

Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch of Maryland initiated the suit against the law, which sets minimum wages for employes of schools, hospitals, nursing homes and institutions for the mentally or physically handicapped—public and private.

The law fixes their minimum hourly wage at $1.15 in the first year, $1.30 in the second year, $1.45 in the third and $1.60 in the fourth.

Rhodes Opens Drive For 'OBC' Passage

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes kicked off his drive for passage of his bond commission proposal here today by telling 200 civic, business and labor leaders it is a "problem solver."

In a talk prepared for a City Club session, the governor declared cities and the state "will have for the first time a link which will assure the solving of common problems."

He described the Ohio Bond Commission, a constitutional amendment on May 2 primary ballots, as a "mechanism which will provide the state with long-term, orderly planning of capital improvements and a means of financing them on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Lie Detector Planned For County's Use

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners have ordered a $1,457 lie detector machine at the request of Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis.

The polygraph will be operated by James R. Gause, special investigator in the prosecutor's office, who recently completed a three - week course in its use at the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation at London.

Bettis said the machine will be available to all law enforcement agencies in the county for the investigation of crimes.

"In view of recent Supreme Court decisions, it is imperative that law enforcement agencies take advantage of all tools available in the investigation and prosecution of those involved in criminal activities," Bettis said.

The polygraph's value as a tool of investigation is well recognized, he added.

States Fight Federal Law In Court Case

1966 Amendments To Fair Labor Act Object Of Attack

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Twenty-six states went to court today with arguments that a federal law threatens to end the federal-state system and could lead to federal control of police departments.

The case raises a question as old as the United States: Where does federal authority end and states' rights begin?

Maryland and the other states —their arguments so voluminous that a grocery cart was used to move the file—are attacking 1966 amendments to the Fair Labor Standard Act. The amendments brought some employes of states and political subdivisions under coverage of federal wage and hour provisions for the first time.

A three-judge federal panel began today a hearing on the constitutionality of the amendments and on a request by the states for an injunction to prohibit the federal government from enforcing their provisions.

The federal government has filed a motion for dismissal.

Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch of Maryland initiated the suit against the law, which sets minimum wages for employes of schools, hospitals, nursing homes and institutions for the mentally or physically handicapped—public and private.

The law fixes their minimum hourly wage at $1.15 in the first year, $1.30 in the second year, $1.45 in the third and $1.60 in the fourth.

Three Raids Strike Near Major Port

Supply Point Hit In Second Day Of Assaults On North

SAIGON (AP) — American carrier planes hurled three raids near the major port of Haiphong Tuesday in the second day of heavy strikes against North Vietnam.

The closest target to the Communists' chief port was a supply point in the Red River delta 12 miles above the city. All-weather jets from the 7th Fleet also hit two other barge and supply points close by.

Air Force and Navy pilots flew 124 missions against North Vietnam. With Monday's strikes, it was the heaviest 48-hour pounding in almost a month.

South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky paid tribute to the Navy fliers today with a flight to the nuclear- powered carrier Enterprise, where he watched strikes take off and decorated three score American fliers. Some had just returned from North Vietnam and some were about to take off.

Flying from bases in Thailand and South Vietnam and from the carriers Enterprise, Hancock and Kitty Hawk, U.S pilots raked supply lines from the Haiphong area south to the 17th Parallel Tuesday. The weather appeared to be breaking after months of fog and rain, but overcasts still prevented bomb damage assessment, and many raids were directed with radar.

Although the U.S. military command does not reveal the number of planes in each mission, the air armada over North Vietnam Tuesday numbered close to 400 warplanes.

There was no announcement of any planes lost over the

Rhodes Opens Drive For 'OBC' Passage

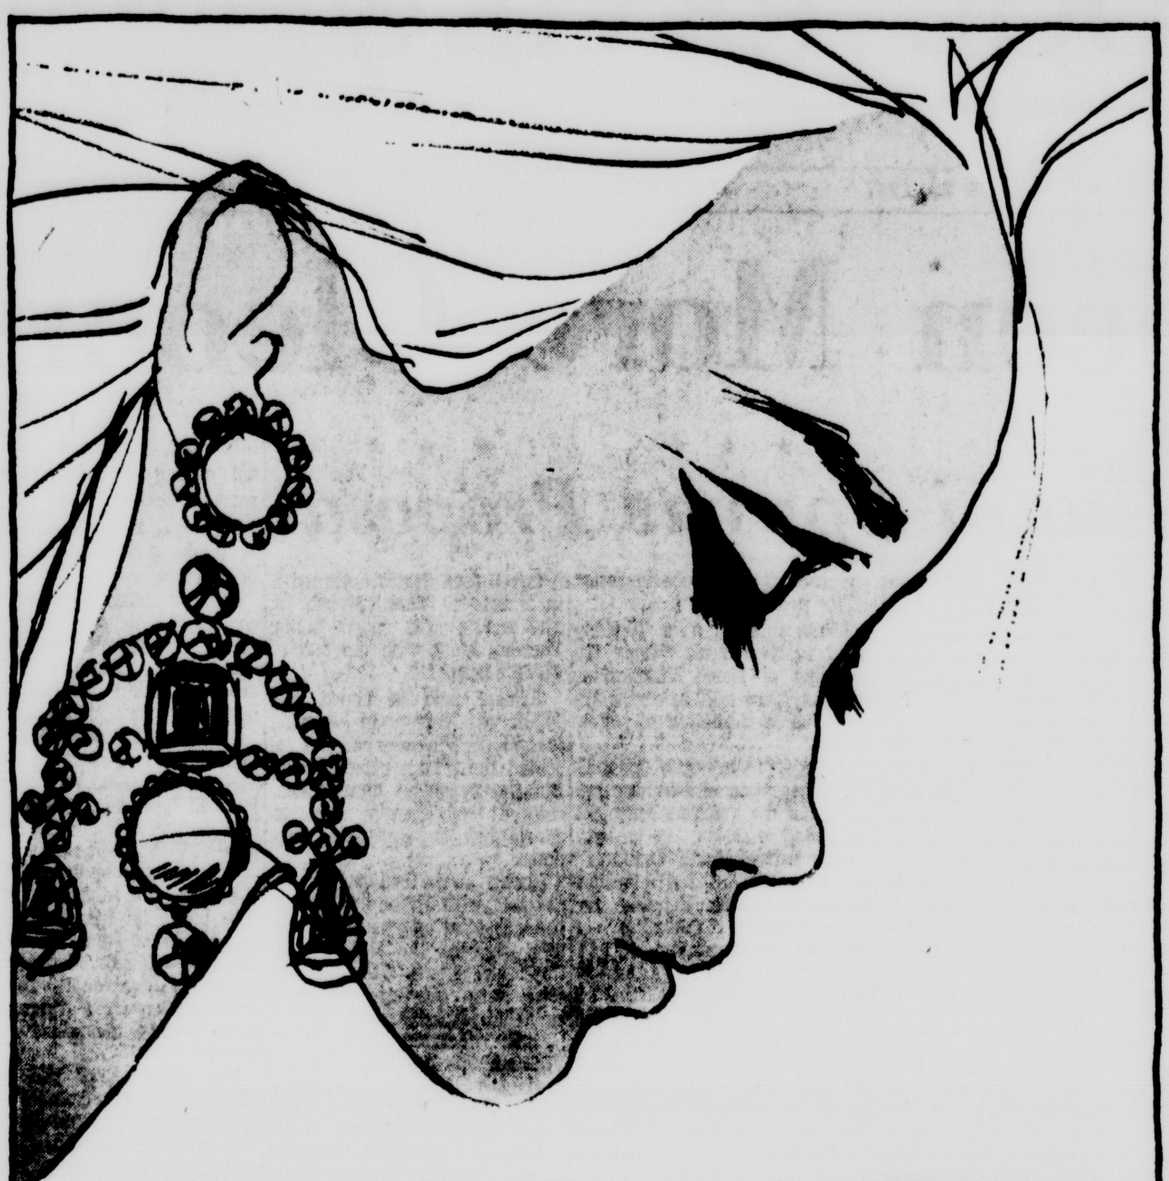

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes kicked off his drive for passage of his bond commission proposal here today by telling 200 civic, business and labor leaders it is a "problem solver."

In a talk prepared for a City Club session, the governor declared cities and the state "will have for the first time a link which will assure the solving of common problems."

He described the Ohio Bond Commission, a constitutional amendment on May 2 primary ballots, as a "mechanism which will provide the state with long-term, orderly planning of capital improvements and a means of financing them on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Advocate Of LBJ Viet Policy Leads Critic In Special Vote

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — An advocate of President Johnson's Vietnam policy today held a slim 370-vote margin over an administration critic in a special congressional election race.

It may be a week before the winner is decided and some 1,900 absentee ballots are counted.

State Sen. Robert O. Tiernan, D-Warwick, received 55,288 votes in Tuesday's special election to find a successor to the late Democratic Rep. John E. Fogarty of the 2nd District.

His Republican opponent, Cranston Mayor James DiPrete Jr. polled 54,918. DiPrete, 39, had called for a halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam as a hopeful prelude to peace talks with Hanoi during the campaign.

The district has voted Democratic since 1946.

Tiernan, 38, elected to the state Senate three times campaigned as a strong advocate of President Johnson's policies in Vietnam.

The late Rep. Fogarty had been in Congress for 26 years until his death in January — hours before the House opened this year's session.

Tiernan carried Providence, the state's largest city, by more than 6,000 votes to give him the slight lead.

An independent candidate, the Rev. Albert Q. Perry of Providence, received just 3,054 votes.

Harry Curvin, chairman of the State Board of Elections, said Tuesday night the outcome of the election may not be known for at least seven days.

Under Rhode Island law, he said, DiPrete has seven days in which to protest the election figures.

Curvin said if DiPrete files a protest today, or files an affidavit saying he does not intend to protest, the absentee ballot count can start at once.

Otherwise, he said, the election board must wait the required seven days before beginning the absentee count.

What We Want To Believe

No American in his right mind will believe a report of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development showing him to be the beneficiary of one of the world's lowest tax rates.

Every American in his right mind learns at his father's knee that his father is the most heavily taxed individual to be found on the face of the earth.

He is told by his father and mother that hey don't know what the country is trying to do to them — apparently kill them with punitive taxation.

Americans are needled to the hilt by agitators who tell them it costs more per day to run their Affluent Society than it cost to run the government a whole year during the French and Indian wars.

They are told repeatedly that the current budget of whichever party is being blamed for the budget is the highest in history.

Nevertheless, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development shows Americans pay proportionately lower taxes than the taxpayers of Sweden, France, Austria, Norway, West Germany, The Netherlands, Britain, Belgium, Denmark, or Italy.

Canada is paying at the same level. Switzerland has a substantially lower rate.

It also should be measured for comparative purposes — but never is — in dollars of constant value.

The tax-burden statistic always should be weighted by population growth — but never is.

There should be corollary statistics to explain additional services demanded and performed because of tax payments.

All presentations of taxation should be simmered down in the last analysis to the individual's share of the burden related to his ability to bear the burden. Nothing else tells the whole story.

Otherwise, tax statistics are as misleading as a blind seeing-eye dog in a snowstorm. But it doesn't really matter, because the purpose of tax statistics is always the same — to show Americans they are the most cruelly taxed human beings on earth, which is what all of us want to believe.

It Takes Time

Work has been launched on the second phase of East Liverpool's "master plan."

Such planning undoubtedly must seem like a slow process to most people — and take time it does.

Deliberate and thorough calculations are vital to an undertaking of this nature, however. Too hasty decisions and a too haphazard approach could defeat the very purpose for which the "master plan" is being devised.

Each step in the complicated program makes the long - range outlook for the community the brighter.

Nothing To Do?

Robert Lewis, extension agent for 4-H, reports 660 teen-agers enrolled in Columbiana County clubs, another indication of the success of the program.

Why the interest in 4-H work? Lewis summarizes it as follows in reviewing phases of the various projects:

An opportunity to learn something worthwhile —perhaps a skill which will help earn money for college; sewing, babysitting, gardening, lawn care, woodworking, electricity and many other projects.

A chance to explore many different careers.

"Fun and fellowship with the gang." Trail rides, campouts, tours, fairs and outings.

Leadership skills as the boys and girls conduct club meetings, plan programs, complete projects and assist younger club members.

Satisfaction and recognition for 4-H'ers "who do a good job."

The countys extensive 4-H program continues to serve as one answer to those youngsters who lament the fact that "there's nothing to do."

If you're bored, and if the opportunity presents itself, why not enroll in 4-H work? The results will be rewarding.

New Horizons

The resignation of Police Chief Bard Dietzel at Salineville points up a problem critical to many smaller communities — the retaining of competent personnel to supervise the every-day phases of a proper operation.

Major communities have their problems, too, but it is in the smaller ones that the matter has become most acute.

New horizons, with better pay, are beckoning constantly for those who have demonstrated ability. It is one of those things which complicate matters for the "little fellows."

Those Horrid Little Girls

By Truman Twill

The ways of the Communist Chinese are peculiar, no doubt about that, but sometimes the outside world does get a glimpse of something that could have happened anywhere.

A non-peculiar example is an announcement that the No. 1 administrator of the Chinese People's Republic, Chou En-lai, has cooled off the fire-eating missus of Mao Tse-tung. It was about time.

She is the ideological pistol who fired the shot that summoned the young Chinese to begin milling around on the pretext of helping the true revolution. She was the red queen of the Red Guards.

True to the aphorism that the female is the deadlier of the species, this female firebrand egged on the young Guards to wild excesses against all Chinese who needed to be trimmed down to size — in her opinion.

Chiang Ching is this firebrand's name. Facts about her are hazy, but there can be no doubt about what makes her tick. The gal is bubbling over with pure malice.

She is eager and willing to use her position as roommate of the No. 1 Chinese ideologist to stir up the animals for the sake of the bloodletting. This makes her a familiar human type. Chiang Ching can happen anywhere.

She is not peculiar to China or to Communism.

She has stood in the background of every brutalitarian regime in history, egging on some pliable slob of a husband, or, if no husband was handy, on one or more boy friends. Not to mention occasional girl friends.

She is the negative counterpart of the good women who have stood in the background of all the exalted passages of history — the understanding wives, angel mothers, devoted sisters and so on.

She is the female who makes lampshades of the skins of concentration camp corpses of Germany, the composed women who knits methodically as the tumbrils rumble past on the way to the guillotine in France, the cruel queen who killed her consort the way a queen bee disposes of her suitors.

She is the New Orleans housewife mouthing unspeakable things about Negro children on their way to school. She is the London fishwife screaming vile insults.

She is the scheming mother trying to hook a prize fish for a feline daughter. She is the over-possessive mother of a too dependent son, warping his personality to satisfy her own distorted views.

She is Salome, Lucretia Borgia and "Ma" Barker. Chiang Ching, whose hysterical imprecations may very well have loused up the Chinese People's Republic for good, joins a cruddy company.

The only sure bet when females like her run amok is that they never know when to stop. They go the limit.

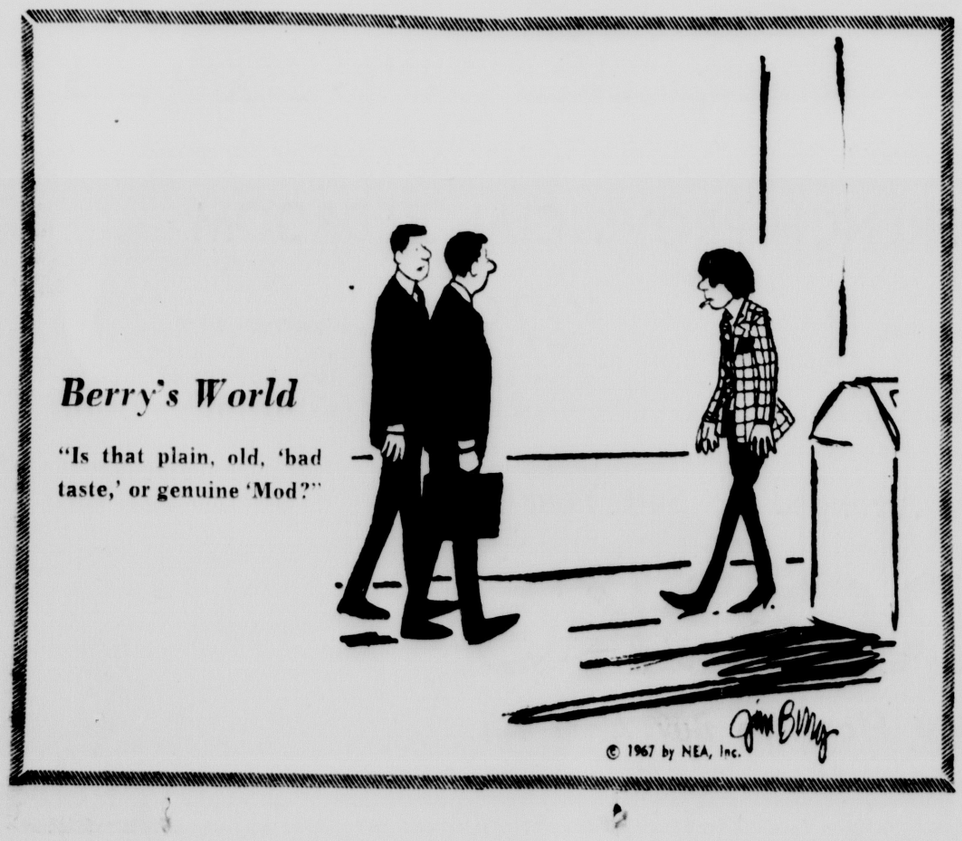

When females are good they are very, very good — but when they are bad they are horrid, just like that girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead.

Whatever happened to that creepy little viper anyway?

Teamsters Get New Leader

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — About all that Number 33-298-NE — alias Jimmy Hoffa — is running from his prison cell is his broom.

Thus, there will not be a national trucking strike at month's end — which he "positively" planned when he brooded in the final hours before joining his old buddy Tony Propenzano over in Lewisburg.

Victor Riesel

For the first time now there comes authenticated word of his final strategy from at least two members of the Teamsters Brotherhood high command.

On March 31 he planned to pick the biggest of the van owners in Menlo Park, Calif., Chicago, New York and some key southern cities. By crippling their terminals and other transshipment points he could paralyze not only transcontinental haulage, but also considerable inter- and intra-community trucking.

THIS would have provoked the Trucking Employers, Inc., into locking out hundreds of thousands of non-striking teamsters. Transportation would have been strangled. Food, fuel and other vital freight would have clogged rail, dock and airport loading platforms and yards. The government would have had to move in — and deal with him personally or through Taft-Hartley for many months.

To execute the strategy, however, Hoffa had to remain free till at least midnight, March 31.

At the same time he had dispatched one of the few men he believed he could trust to fly to Latin America for a personal conversation with the itinerant Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren. At that moment the jurist was in Bolivia.

Somehow the word of Hoffa's emissary got through and the envoy from "The Man" was told to save his breath and fare. The Chief Justice would do no such extraordinary thing as consult with such a courier — especially one who was not a lawyer.

So Hoffa got free transportation to Lewisburg.

BUT, say several of those on the Teamsters International Executive Board, he still carried with him his one big hope — that the contract negotiations involving 440,000 drivers and some 16,000 truckers, the lifeblood arteries of the nation, would blow geyser-high.

This would prove that even in today's mechanized America the transportation system could not function without "Hoffa" — as he always refers to himself.

Then came the test. Would he be able to run the Teamsters from his cell?

He hasn't. He cannot communicate with his caretaker government now run by the 59-year-old "Fitz' (Frank Fitzsimmons). The acting president is not even on the approved list of prison visitors.

"Fitz", for his part is running some very businesslike, garden variety contract negotiations. The big issue — as it is everywhere else — is money. The rank and file want lots of it.

He is surrounded by lots of talent. And it can be quite accurately reported from within the sanctum that the name of Jimmy Hoffa rarely comes up.

THERE MAY be strikes — selective ones — if the bargaining goes the full length. One or two big transcontinental carriers — affecting perhaps 25,000 big vans — will be chosen and hit. Pickets will stream in front of all "barns."

But this will be pressure strategy — and not an effort to strangle the nation.

"Fitz" knows that the rest of the Teamsters high command is watching him. They want to see him act and react — all alone — under pressure.

They want to watch the lines of communication between Lewisburg, Detroit and Washington during the next 60 to 90 days. Those vice-presidents not involved in the direct negotiations are touring the country getting a reading. Then they'll act.

They're not certain of Fitz. But most of them are convinced that "Hoffa' is now only a footnote.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

It is with appreciation that I write to you relative to the article that appeared in The Review March 25. It was headed "Watchdogs and Lapdogs."

As a postal clerk, I have often felt that the public should be more informed, and would like at this time to bring forth certain facts to the people of the East Liverpool area.

Some years back, I worked in the East Liverpool office. While there, I met a fine group of postal clerks and I am sure you will agree with me at the conclusion of this letter that it is not the fault of this group that service is not what it should be. At the present I am in the Pittsburgh post office, airport mail facility. I serve the clerks at this unit as their union representative of the United Federation of Postal Clerks, Local 81.

The Review article brought to my mind a statement made by the postmaster general last summer (1966) in which he stated, "Shoddy postal service will not be tolerated."

We, the postal workers, and our organizations have never condoned shoddy mail service. We have been forced, all to often, despite our protest, to tolerate it, but it has never been because of any situation of our doing. We should place it on record that: We, the employes, have not tried to eliminate en route distribution on RPO's and HPO's. We, the employes, did not develop or condone the massing of mail into sectional centers on a wholesale basis rather than processing it in local offices to augment en route distribution.

We, the employes, did not cut down window service on Saturdays.

We, the employes, did not cut parcel post service deliver to five days a week.

We, the employes, did not flood the postal service with poorly - trained temporary help.

We, the employes, did not impose ceilings, freezes, etc., that have left a large percentage of our post offices understaffed by competent career personnel who helped make the postal service great, and could do so again if given the opportunity.

We, the employes, did not develop the system of postal subsidies, free services, and reduced rates to bulk mailers. However, in view of the assist to the national economy and the educational advancement of our country, we certainly did not oppose them. We did not reverse ourselves and cry to heaven in the halls of Congress about the postal deficit, because we knew, as do others, that it was a false deficit. We repeat, we are not the ones who hold the "deficit" like a hammer over the head of the postmaster general and expect him to reduce it and at the same time provide proper service to the public.

We, the employes, are not the ones who year after year cut the postal appropriation in Congress.

We, the employes, have not done any of these things. On the contrary, it is a matter of record that we have fought everyone of them to the utmost of our power. In conclusion then, it is not the postal worker or his organization who has taken the service out of the postal service.

Education Is Doing Well

Sometimes the American people read in the newspapers excerpts from a public statement by a prominent man, but they don't always learn the answer to criticisms he makes.

A case in point is the recent report by McGeorge Bundy, president of the Ford Foundation and former special adviser to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Mr. Bundy criticized "the American rich, old and new," for their "relatively slow and feeble giving" to education.

Most people, however, do not have available the facts on the subject and are therefore unaware that in 1965 individuals and corporations donated more than $10 billion to charity, and gave a substantial amount of it for educational purposes.

Contributions for all causes in the year 1965 totalled $11.3 billion, according to the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel Inc.

Its report shows that foundations gave $1.125 billions, but corporations and individuals, including bequests through wills, donated a total of $10.175 billion.

A further breakdown of all the 1965 contributions reveals that 17 per cent — or $1.921 billion — was given for education.

A special survey was made by the Council for Financial Aid to Education, Inc. of contributions for the 1964-65 school year.

Its report discloses that individuals gave 44.8 per cent and corporations, 14 per cent — or a total of 58.8 per cent. Foundations contributed 28.7 per cent.

The remaining 12.5 per cent came from religious denominations and other sources.

There is nothing in any of the tabulations to indicate that either businesses or wealthy individuals have failed to contribute in a generous way to education in America. In fact, more money is being given for educational than for health purposes.

Religion takes practically one-half of all the contributions made and welfare gets about 13 per cent.

Fund-raising in the United States has been accelerated in recent years. Since 1954, the total giving has more than doubled — from $5.4 billion in 1954 to $11.3 billions in 1965.

During the same period, to be sure, the nation's output of goods and services — the gross national product — rose by 87 per cent. But total giving actually increased by 109.3 per cent — far more rapidly than did the gross national product.

So it can hardly be said that the people of all income groups are not giving generously to education and for other charitable purposes.

In the coming years, the federal government as well as the states will be increasing substantially their appropriations for education, but the public institutions will benefit most from such policies.

Though some grants are being made to private institutions, barriers are raised in Congress whenever federal funds are proposed for universities or colleges or schools which are supported by religious denominations.

This puts an even heavier burden on citizens of particular faiths which operate schools of their own.

The figures do, however, indicate clearly that corporations and individuals connected with large and small businesses are contributing heavily to education and welfare causes.

Mr. Bundy's remarks will come as a surprise indeed to the persons actually engaged in fund-raising throughout the United States who are collecting each year a huge proportion of their funds from persons of higher-than-average incomes.

Foundations set up by businessmen also are a substantial source of contributions and have served a useful purpose in America.

The Ford Foundation, which Mr. Bundy now heads, was itself created by a man who made his fortune in the business of manufacturing automobiles.

Every year, newspapers tell of large sums going into newly formed foundations through bequests of businessmen.

The tax laws provide that such gifts are not subject to huge levies. A tax as high as 77 per cent is imposed on big estates left to individuals.

Money without limit, however, can be bequeathed to a nonprofit institution and is not subject to inheritance taxes.

What We Want To Believe

No American in his right mind will believe a report of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development showing him to be the beneficiary of one of the world's lowest tax rates.

Every American in his right mind learns at his father's knee that his father is the most heavily taxed individual to be found on the face of the earth.

He is told by his father and mother that hey don't know what the country is trying to do to them — apparently kill them with punitive taxation.

Americans are needled to the hilt by agitators who tell them it costs more per day to run their Affluent Society than it cost to run the government a whole year during the French and Indian wars.

They are told repeatedly that the current budget of whichever party is being blamed for the budget is the highest in history.

Nevertheless, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development shows Americans pay proportionately lower taxes than the taxpayers of Sweden, France, Austria, Norway, West Germany, The Netherlands, Britain, Belgium, Denmark, or Italy.

Canada is paying at the same level. Switzerland has a substantially lower rate.

It also should be measured for comparative purposes — but never is — in dollars of constant value.

The tax-burden statistic always should be weighted by population growth — but never is.

There should be corollary statistics to explain additional services demanded and performed because of tax payments.

All presentations of taxation should be simmered down in the last analysis to the individual's share of the burden related to his ability to bear the burden. Nothing else tells the whole story.

Otherwise, tax statistics are as misleading as a blind seeing-eye dog in a snowstorm. But it doesn't really matter, because the purpose of tax statistics is always the same — to show Americans they are the most cruelly taxed human beings on earth, which is what all of us want to believe.

It Takes Time

Work has been launched on the second phase of East Liverpool's "master plan."

Such planning undoubtedly must seem like a slow process to most people — and take time it does.

Deliberate and thorough calculations are vital to an undertaking of this nature, however. Too hasty decisions and a too haphazard approach could defeat the very purpose for which the "master plan" is being devised.

Each step in the complicated program makes the long - range outlook for the community the brighter.

Nothing To Do?

Robert Lewis, extension agent for 4-H, reports 660 teen-agers enrolled in Columbiana County clubs, another indication of the success of the program.

Why the interest in 4-H work? Lewis summarizes it as follows in reviewing phases of the various projects:

An opportunity to learn something worthwhile —perhaps a skill which will help earn money for college; sewing, babysitting, gardening, lawn care, woodworking, electricity and many other projects.

A chance to explore many different careers.

"Fun and fellowship with the gang." Trail rides, campouts, tours, fairs and outings.

Leadership skills as the boys and girls conduct club meetings, plan programs, complete projects and assist younger club members.

Satisfaction and recognition for 4-H'ers "who do a good job."

The countys extensive 4-H program continues to serve as one answer to those youngsters who lament the fact that "there's nothing to do."

If you're bored, and if the opportunity presents itself, why not enroll in 4-H work? The results will be rewarding.

New Horizons

The resignation of Police Chief Bard Dietzel at Salineville points up a problem critical to many smaller communities — the retaining of competent personnel to supervise the every-day phases of a proper operation.

Major communities have their problems, too, but it is in the smaller ones that the matter has become most acute.

New horizons, with better pay, are beckoning constantly for those who have demonstrated ability. It is one of those things which complicate matters for the "little fellows."

Those Horrid Little Girls

By Truman Twill

The ways of the Communist Chinese are peculiar, no doubt about that, but sometimes the outside world does get a glimpse of something that could have happened anywhere.

A non-peculiar example is an announcement that the No. 1 administrator of the Chinese People's Republic, Chou En-lai, has cooled off the fire-eating missus of Mao Tse-tung. It was about time.

She is the ideological pistol who fired the shot that summoned the young Chinese to begin milling around on the pretext of helping the true revolution. She was the red queen of the Red Guards.

True to the aphorism that the female is the deadlier of the species, this female firebrand egged on the young Guards to wild excesses against all Chinese who needed to be trimmed down to size — in her opinion.

Chiang Ching is this firebrand's name. Facts about her are hazy, but there can be no doubt about what makes her tick. The gal is bubbling over with pure malice.

She is eager and willing to use her position as roommate of the No. 1 Chinese ideologist to stir up the animals for the sake of the bloodletting. This makes her a familiar human type. Chiang Ching can happen anywhere.

She is not peculiar to China or to Communism.

She has stood in the background of every brutalitarian regime in history, egging on some pliable slob of a husband, or, if no husband was handy, on one or more boy friends. Not to mention occasional girl friends.

She is the negative counterpart of the good women who have stood in the background of all the exalted passages of history — the understanding wives, angel mothers, devoted sisters and so on.

She is the female who makes lampshades of the skins of concentration camp corpses of Germany, the composed women who knits methodically as the tumbrils rumble past on the way to the guillotine in France, the cruel queen who killed her consort the way a queen bee disposes of her suitors.

She is the New Orleans housewife mouthing unspeakable things about Negro children on their way to school. She is the London fishwife screaming vile insults.

She is the scheming mother trying to hook a prize fish for a feline daughter. She is the over-possessive mother of a too dependent son, warping his personality to satisfy her own distorted views.

She is Salome, Lucretia Borgia and "Ma" Barker. Chiang Ching, whose hysterical imprecations may very well have loused up the Chinese People's Republic for good, joins a cruddy company.

The only sure bet when females like her run amok is that they never know when to stop. They go the limit.

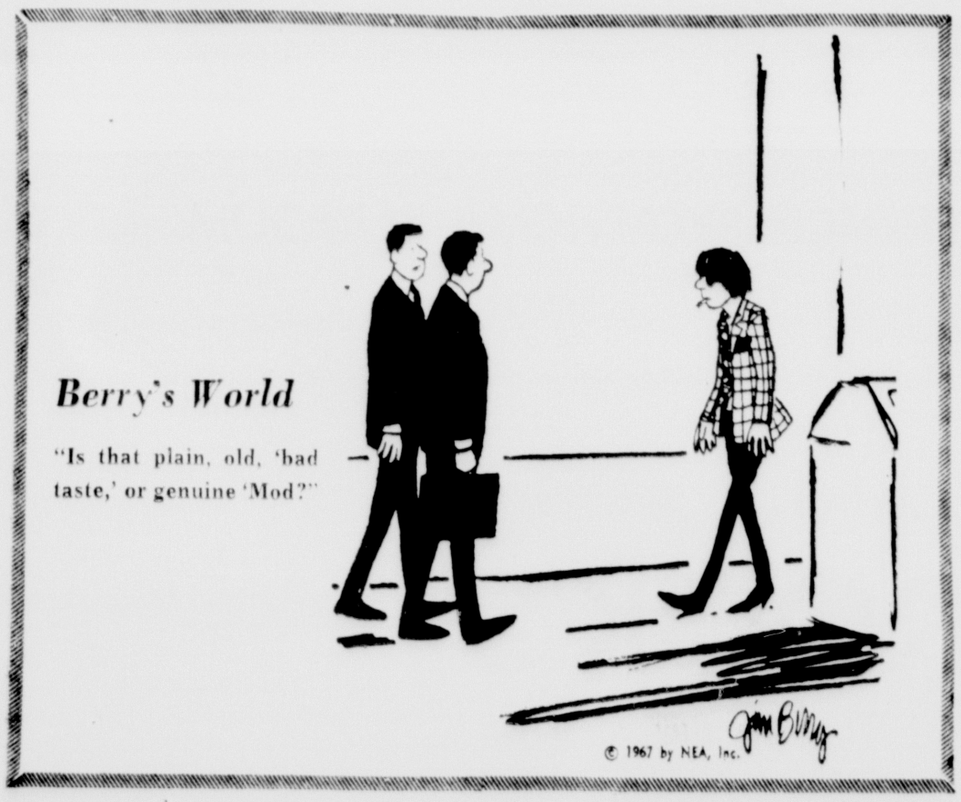

When females are good they are very, very good — but when they are bad they are horrid, just like that girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead.

Whatever happened to that creepy little viper anyway?

Teamsters Get New Leader

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — About all that Number 33-298-NE — alias Jimmy Hoffa — is running from his prison cell is his broom.

Thus, there will not be a national trucking strike at month's end — which he "positively" planned when he brooded in the final hours before joining his old buddy Tony Propenzano over in Lewisburg.

Victor Riesel

For the first time now there comes authenticated word of his final strategy from at least two members of the Teamsters Brotherhood high command.

On March 31 he planned to pick the biggest of the van owners in Menlo Park, Calif., Chicago, New York and some key southern cities. By crippling their terminals and other transshipment points he could paralyze not only transcontinental haulage, but also considerable inter- and intra-community trucking.

THIS would have provoked the Trucking Employers, Inc., into locking out hundreds of thousands of non-striking teamsters. Transportation would have been strangled. Food, fuel and other vital freight would have clogged rail, dock and airport loading platforms and yards. The government would have had to move in — and deal with him personally or through Taft-Hartley for many months.

To execute the strategy, however, Hoffa had to remain free till at least midnight, March 31.

Utility Pole Ripped In Accident

A 30-year-old East Liverpool man was cited on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol after his auto sheared off a utility pole at 4:50 this morning on W. 8th St., about 150 feet west of Shadyside Ave., police reported.

Raymond A. Kinne of 818 Lincoln Ave. was charged by Patrolman James Woods as an aftermath of the collision that injured Kinne's passenger, Mrs. Alice Doyle, 46, of Black Hawk in Beaver County, officers said.

Mrs. Doyle was released after treatment at City Hospital for abrasions of the right hip and eyebrow.

The crash damaged the entire front of Kinne's 1966 sedan. He told the officer he was driving west on the four-lane highway about 50 miles an hour when he fell asleep, causing the car to hit the pole. The officer said an open container of wine was found in the auto.

Meanwhile, a district woman's auto was damaged in a mishap Tuesday at 7:24 p. m. on E. 6th St. 20 feet east of Crook Alley, officers said.

The collision involved a 1959 sedan driven by Delmar A. Jividen, 36, of 904 Grant St., Newell, and a 1965 sedan operated by Wilma J. Boughner, 49, of Houston Rd. R. D. 2.

The woman started to pull away from the curb, then stopped to check for oncoming traffic, police said. Jividen, eastbound on E. 6th St., tried unsuccessfully to swerve to avoid a collision, officers said. The crash damaged the left front fender and bumper of the Boughner auto.

Blaze Quelled In Area Home

An upstairs bedroom of a Calcutta area home was damaged by fire which broke out about 9:45 a. m. today and was quelled by Calcutta and Glenmoor firemen in about a half-hour.

The blaze hit the two - story frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Emmerling of the Old Fredericktown Rd. near the intersection with Route 170.

A daughter, Mrs. Walter Long, was at home at the time.

Firemen said the blaze began in a bed, possibly from an electric blanket or from a cigarette. There was damage to the bedroom from the flames, and water and smoke damage in the rest of the structure.

Assistant Fire Chief Donald Dunn said an estimate has not yet been made of the total damage.

The trip of the clipper Flying Cloud, sailing from New York to San Francisco around Cape Horn, took 89 days. In one day's run, the ship made 374 nautical miles. Both the speed of the cruise and the speed of the day's run set world records which were never broken by sailing ships.

Strong 2-Party Legislature

Florida Voters Give GOP Governor Solid Backing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida emerged today with the strongest two - party legislature in the once solidly Democratic South, giving its new Republican governor strong veto control.

The voters Tuesday abandoned century-old political traditions and gave Republicans strength they have never known in the court-ordered election of Florida's first one-man, one-vote legislature.

Although only about one-third of the state's 2.5 million voters cast ballots, the electorate — with its first Republican governor in 94 years in office less than three months — gave the GOP a better than one-third minority in the legislative branch.

A two-thirds vote is needed in the Florida Legislature to override a veto.

Not since Reconstruction has the GOP held such leverage in a Southern state government.

Gov. Claude Kirk laid his political prestige on the line as he campaigned for Republican legislative candidates.

But many — including Kirk himself — expressed doubt that he had become sufficiently popular to pull into office as many Republicans as were elected.

Democrats outnumber Republicans on the registration books 4-1.

Kirk was elected last November on an anti-Johnson administration program that embraced no new taxes, all-out war on crime, opposition to rising food prices, and "normal" economic growth. It was the political upset of the century in Florida.

Kirk had called upon the voters in the legislative campaign to "show your dissatisfaction with the Johnson administration as you did in November."

Kirk's controversial "war on crime," which is being run by a private detective agency, was not an issue in any legislative race.

A federal court declared Florida's old apportionment unconstitutional because it was weighted toward rural votes. A new reapportionment — meeting the U.S. Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote dictum — was drawn by the court Feb. 13 and elections ordered to fill it.

manent end to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam has now been demonstrated by its reaction to three major peace efforts—those of Johnson, Thant and a joint attempt by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson when they met in London in mid-February.

Rusk said Tuesday that insofar as major issues are concerned, the record of secdet diplomacy in peace seeking is the same as the public record. But he said four letters Johnson sent Ho Chi Minh are not being released "because we do not wish ourselves to establish the point that a private communication with us is impossible."

Rusk said channels from Washington to Hanoi remain open, but he warned against "exaggerating the point."

"When you pick up the telephone and nobody answers on the other end," he said, "is that a channel or not? Or if you find yourself in a telephone conversation and the other end hangs up, I will leave it to you as to whether that is a channel.

"I can say at the moment that our channels are not very efficient, to say the least."

Board OK's '67-68 Staff At Palestine

Resignations were formally accepted from four instructors —Mrs. Helene Huston, first grade; Mrs. Shirley Patterson, second grade; Mrs. Ruth Hoopes, high school world history, and Miss Stefania Ferranzzano, Spanish and English.

The board will have to fill these four posts along with a special education position. If Title One funds are approved for next year, an additional two elementary teachers will be needed.

The board authorized continuing contracts to more than 50 instructors and one - year contracts to 25 more.

Bids were opened for two new school buses. The Myers Equipment Co. of Canfield submitted the sole offer on bodies — $3,542 each with a $410 trade-in on two older vehicles.

The Brittain Motors Co. of East Palestine bid $4,085 each for Chevrolet chassis and Neil Motors Co. of East Palestine bid $4,067 for Dodge chassis.

The board will await bids as supplied through the state central purchasing plan to determine whether to participate in it or buy locally. The district would qualify for state funds for 64 per cent of the cost of the buses.

The First National Bank was named depository for $30,000 in inactive funds — bond retirement money — at 5 per cent interest.

The newly - organized Jaycees were granted permission to use the high school cafeteria for a charter night program later this spring.

VELBERT, Germany (AP) — Norman Mears' hospitality was large but the registry office where he was married was a little too small.

So the 29 friends and relatives the St. Paul, Minn., business executive had flown over for the ceremony had to wait outside.

It cost the 62-year-old Mears about $20,000 to bring the guests over for his wedding to 37-year-old Hella Lux, a teacher of English.

Mears' transatlantic guests were supposed to have been taken straight to the bride's home for the reception but a bus driver dropped them at the tiny registry office by mistake.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Enough is enough, believes Andrew Philip Jr. and when his wife added triplet girls to the family he drew the line.

"We were hoping for boy's," he confessed, "but I'm happy as could be anyway."

"STOP TORTURING YOURSELF"

EASE YOUR ACHING BACK

More than 28 million Americans, according to Life, are resigned to suffering chronic and painful back ailments. But now, a noted Florida surgeon has outlined new procedures to relieve the aching back.

In his specialized practice at Miami's famed Coral Clinic, where many professional athletes from all over the country are regularly treated, Dr. James C. Chimerakis has come to the conclusion that abdominal support is the key factor in treating the "bad back".

Based on his clinical success, Dr. Chimerakis now prescribes "a light, comfortable easily-worn control undershort", to be worn night and day. He specifically recommends MANDATE, a control short knitted with a unique, patented construction. Dr. Chimerakis prescribes MANDATE, because, in his own words:

"This reduces pain by supporting the low back muscles, ligaments and cartilages, and takes the 'drag' off the lumbar nerves and the invertebral nerve of Laschka."

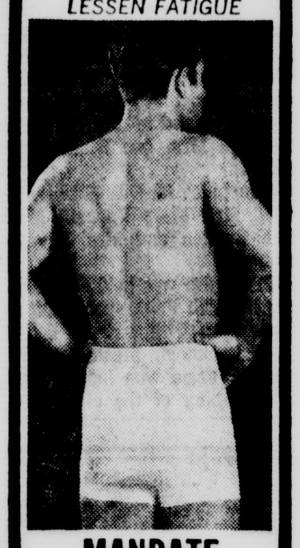

"A firm supporting light material (with good tensile strength) like MANDATE support-wear provides sufficient stability and is also easily worn by the patient."

"The MANDATE should be worn daily during working hours and in cases of severe pain, also while the patient is in bed. This garment also supports the pendulous abdomen, relieving mesenteric drag and reducing the anterior pull on the lumbar spine."

"In relieving the pull of the mesentery, the MANDATE will also lower your patient's blood pressure and heart rate."

MANDATE, worn by many men just for slimming and good posture, is also often prescribed for heart patients.

Basketball Rule Makers Eliminate Dunking Of Ball

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The National Basketball Committee has come up with a defense for the dunk shot—a rule prohibiting its use in college or high school games.

The rule makers outlawed the dunk shot at the closing session of their meeting Tuesday and also strengthened a rule already on the books to prohibit stalling tactics.

Although the dunk shot is a favorite among fans, players and some coaches, one of the rule makers believes the long-range response will be favorable.

"This has been a dramatic activity," said Clifford Fagan, secretary of the national policy-making group for amateur basketball in the United States and Canada.

"There might be some objection to prohibiting the dunk shot at first, but when they think about it and understand, I think everyone will feel that the change is good for the game," Fagan said.

Fagan said dunking the ball meant holding the ball above the basket and either dropping it or stuffing it through the net. He said the penalty for dunking will be loss of possession.

Fagan said the rule against dunking had no reference to any player but the new rule is certain to affect the style of 7-foot-1⅜ Lew Alcindor, who led UCLA to the NCAA national championship with his dunk shots.

UCLA Coach John Wooden said he was surprised and "a little disappointed" at the new rule.

"I am very much surprised, basically, because there has been no experimentation in this field," Wooden said. "Almost always the committee recommends a year or even two years of experimentation before a rule is changed."

Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, who doesn't allow his players to use the dunk shot, was pleased with the new rule.

"I think it's a good rule," Rupp said. "I knew it was coming because there's been too much reaction to this show-off stuff. I'm glad to see them do something about this thing. It doesn't belong in basketball."

Fagan said there had been a rule to prevent stalling and a lack of action for about 10 years but the new ruling strenghtened it.

Under the old rule, the team behind had the responsibility of forcing the action. If an offensive team did not advance forward with the ball after 30 seconds, it was given a warning and if no action resulted after another 5 seconds, a technical foul was called.

The only change in the new ruling is that the team will be warned after only 10 seconds.

Quarter-Final Spots Sought Tonight

Uncle Pete's Makes First Title Defense

Survivors in the Wellsville Jaycee Tournament will battle for quarter-final spots tonight and defending champion Uncle Pete's will make its first appearance in the tourney at the Beacom Memorial Gym.

Four more teams fell by the wayside Tuesday night as 13 entries remained alive to battle for the title.

Here's Tonight's Card At Wellsville

6 — Wellsville faculty vs. Stanton Local
7 — Salem faculty vs. Beaver Local
8 — Y-Men (ELO) vs. Lease Drugs
9 — World Book II vs. Palmer Billiards
10 — Uncle Pete's (Wellsville) vs. Dillonvale CSA
11—World Book I vs. winner Music Center
12—Jokers vs. Weirton DAV

A pair of faculty games and five regular tourney contests will be staged tonight with the feature game at 10 p. m. when Uncle Pete's meets Dillonvale CSA. Leading Uncle Pete's are John Hummell, the high scoring ace from Steubenville College and Vince Giles, last year's outstanding player in the tourney.

The first game tonight at 6 finds the Wellsville faculty meeting the Stanton Local faculty while Salem meets Beaver Local in the second game. The winners will clash on Friday for the faculty championship.

In the regular tournament, the Y-Men of East Liverpool led by veteran campaigners Jack (Ollie) Green and Bob Johnson will meet Lease Drugs of Salem at 8.

At 9 o'clock, World Book II meets Palmer Billiards of Minerva, while World Book I plays the Salem Music Center at 11. In the final game at midnight, the Jokers meet Weirton DAV, last year's runnerup.

In last night's games, Amo's Esso, a strong entry from Rochester listing ex-Geneva standouts, rolled over Mason's IGA, 76-29. Biff Aultman led the way with 19 points while Bender added 16. Mason's was paced by Medley and Shannon with 10 each.

Dillonvale CSA bounced Wellsville Feed, 73-43 with Nixon scoring 25 points for the winners. Roberts led Wellsville Feed with 14 points.

Pulled Major Upsets

Patterson Industries Enters Canisius College In Classic

Patterson Industries of East Liverpool will enter Canisius College of Buffalo in the Ohio Valley Basketball Classic to be staged April 14 and 15 at Midland High School gym, classic officials announced today.

Canisius, a major college independent, had the distinction this past season of defeating some of the top ranked teams in the East.

THE COMPLETE starting lineup will appear in the Classic along with Frank Swiatek, who was the most valuable player at Canisius in 1965. The team has been barnstorming since the regular college season ended and has won two tournaments in the Buffalo area.

Some of the sterling upsets pulled by Canasius this season came over St. John's of New York, Providence with Jimmy Walker & Co., St. Francis, Villanova and LaSalle.

THE NEW York school finished the season over the .500 mark and played some of the outstanding teams in the country.

The starting five for Canisius will be Andy Anderson, 6-3, John Morrison, the teams leading scorer at 6-2, Warren Plant 6-6, Bert Carr 6-2 and Denny Misko, 6-2, a Youngstown product.

—:—

BOB WYCOFF, and Jim (Sonny) Migliore co-chairmen, said two other teams are to be announced.

The defending champion — Hot Dog Shop — already has entered with such standouts as Connie Hawkins, who stole the show in the first Classic held last year at East Liverpool.

Tickets for the Classic are on sale in East Liverpool at Reark's, the Hot Dog Shop, Colonial Grill and Osborn's Barbershop. In Midland, tickets can be purchased at Migliore Ford Co. or Katich's Confectionery.

Lee Benjamin Resigns At New Philadelphia

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—Leo Benjamin, 47, for 14 years head basketball coach at New Philadelphia High School, has resigned, but will remain as a teacher, it was announced today.

Late Season Game Proves To Be Costly

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Hull's run at Bobby Hull's record of 54 goals in one season probably has ended.

Chicago's Golden Jet was one of several victims in Tuesday night's "mean nothing" game against the Detroit Red Wings which the National Hockey League champion Black Hawks won with ease, 7-2.

But it was a costly victory. Defenseman Matt Ravlich was lost for the rest of the season because of a fractured left leg in the third period.

Hull, who was responsible for a 51-minute delay in the game when one of his blistering slapshots shattered the "unbreakable" glass behind the nets, had to leave the ice in the third period because of an injured left knee.

Doug Mohns reinjured his back in the rough-tough contest after which the Hawks kept mumbling to a man "what are they trying to prove?"

Hull, who scored a record 54 goals last season and has 52 this time around, might not see action in the final three games this week at Boston Thursday, at Montreal Saturday and at New York Sunday.

"I don't think it's too serious," said Coach Billy Reay "but I just might not use him the rest of the week. Why should I? We need him for the playoffs."

Meanwhile, the torrid race for second place resumes Wednesday night when Toronto and Montreal, tied for the runnerup spot with 71 points each, clash in Montreal and New York, a step behind with 70 points, is home against Detroit.

Double Eagle Turned In At Highland Links

A double eagle was turned in by Atty. William Brokaw Sunday on the par 5 No. 6 hole at Highland Golf Course.

Doug Capehart, owner of the course said he can only remember a double eagle one other time on that particular hole.

Brokaw used a driver and a four wood for the two shots. He was playing in a threesome.

No Contract, Jay Wouldn't Have To Pay 'Bean' Fine

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Free agent Joey Jay hasn't drawn a pay check yet from the Philadelphia Phillies and that makes things somewhat difficult for Warren Giles, president of the National League.

Jay, in the Phillie camp on a look-see, was involved in a beanball incident in Tuesday's 9-7 loss to the New York Mets. He drew a warning from umpire Tom Gorman and that ordinarily calls for an automatic $50 fine.

But if a player isn't under contract, how can he be fined?

"That does present a problem," admitted Giles, who saw Jay fire two pitches behind Bob Shaw in the second inning after Shaw had bounced one off Clay Dalrymple's helmet an inning earlier." I'll have to take that into consideration."

Not only isn't Jay under contract, but the way he's been pitching this spring, he's not likely to be offered one either. He's worked 15 innings in four games and allowed 21 earned runs as well six home runs.

Jay gave up six runs on eight hits in five innings against the Mets and at this stage of training, a performance like that could seal a man's fate. And so, maybe Jay got a freebie in the duster war Tuesday.

In other games, St. Louis dropped Los Angeles 3-1, Houston downed Pittsburgh 4-2, Kansas City edged the New York Yankees 5-4, San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-1, Washington whipped Baltimore 5-2 and California stopped Cleveland 3-1.

Games between Atlanta and Detroit at Lakeland, Fla., Cincinnati and Minnesota at Orlando, Fla., and the Chicago White Sox and Boston at Winter Haven, Fla., were rained out.

The Mets pushed across two runs to win in the 10th inning against Ruben Gomez, who is attempting a comeback with the Phillies. Dick Groat had five straight hits for Philadelphia and Ken Boyer homered for New York.

Bob Gibson worked seven innings for the Cardinals as St. Louis beat Los Angeles. Gibson retired only one of the first six batters he faced, but allowed just two hits over his final six innings. Orlando Cepeda had three hits including a homer against the Dodgers, who dropped their sixth straight game against National League opposition.

Houston rocked Dennis Ribant for three runs in the sixth inning, breaking a 1-1 tie against the Pirates. Rusty Staub's triple triggered the winning rally.

Jim Gosger drove in three runs with a homer and a single in Kansas City's victory over the Yankees. Rookie Bill Robinson homered and drove in all four New York runs.

Mike McCormick worked seven strong innings and Willie McCovey drove in three runs for the Giants against the Cubs. Lindy McDaniel pitched the last two innings and lowered his spring earned run average for seven appearances to 0.75.

Doug Camilli drove in three runs with a single and double and Jim King homered in Washington's victory over Baltimore. Paul Blair homered for the Orioles.

Jay Johnstone's bases-loaded single helped California whip Cleveland. The hit raised Johnstone's spring average to .486.

Basketball Rule Makers Eliminate Dunking Of Ball

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The National Basketball Committee has come up with a defense for the dunk shot—a rule prohibiting its use in college or high school games.

The rule makers outlawed the dunk shot at the closing session of their meeting Tuesday and also strengthened a rule already on the books to prohibit stalling tactics.

Although the dunk shot is a favorite among fans, players and some coaches, one of the rule makers believes the long-range response will be favorable.

"This has been a dramatic activity," said Clifford Fagan, secretary of the national policy-making group for amateur basketball in the United States and Canada.

"There might be some objection to prohibiting the dunk shot at first, but when they think about it and understand, I think everyone will feel that the change is good for the game," Fagan said.

Fagan said dunking the ball meant holding the ball above the basket and either dropping it or stuffing it through the net. He said the penalty for dunking will be loss of possession.

Fagan said the rule against dunking had no reference to any player but the new rule is certain to affect the style of 7-foot-1¾ Lew Alcindor, who led UCLA to the NCAA national championship with his dunk shots.

UCLA Coach John Wooden said he was surprised and "a little disappointed" at the new rule.

"I am very much surprised, basically, because there has been no experimentation in this field," Wooden said. "Almost always the committee recommends a year or even two years of experimentation before a rule is changed."

Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, who doesn't allow his players to use the dunk shot, was pleased with the new rule.

"I think it's a good rule," Rupp said. "I knew it was coming because there's been too much reaction to this show-off stuff. I'm glad to see them do something about this thing. It doesn't belong in basketball."

Fagan said there had been a rule to prevent stalling and a lack of action for about 10 years but the new ruling strenghtened it.

Under the old rule, the team behind had the responsibility of forcing the action. If an offensive team did not advance forward with the ball after 30 seconds, it was given a warning and if no action resulted after another 5 seconds, a technical foul was called.

The only change in the new ruling is that the team will be warned after only 10 seconds.

Valek, Schmidt Named

Former Illinois Stars Fill Grid, Floor Posts

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Jim Valek and Harv Schmidt, a pair of former University of Illinois star athletes, are expected to answer the call of Alma mater Wednesday.

Valek and Schmidt will be at a press conference scheduled for Wednesday (11:30 a.m. Est) when an announcement will be made to fill the head football and basketball coaching posts.

Valek will succeed Pete Elliott as football coach and Schmidt will fill the basketball position held by Harry Combes.

Elliott, Combes and assistant basketball Coach Howie Braun recently resigned in the wake of the $21,000 slush fund scandal after the Big Ten ruled the three should be fired or Illinois face suspension from the conference.

Valek, 41, is a former Illinois grid captain who played end on the 1947 Rose Bowl championship team. Valek and Gene Vance, who officially becomes Illinois' athletic director April 1, coached at Lasalle-Peru Ill. High School in the mid-1950s.

Valek was football coach and Vance, a member of Illinois' famed Whiz Kids basketball team in the 1940s, was basketball coach.

Valek went to Illinois as an assistant under Ray Elliott in 1958 and served one year under Elliott when Pete moved to Illinois from California in 1960.

Valek then shifted to Army under Dale Hall in 1961 and was retained at West Point when Paul Dietzel took the head job in 1961. When Deitzel went to South Carolina, Valek went along as offensive backfield coach.

Schmidt, 31, was captain and most valuable player on the 1957 Illinois basketball team. He has been serving as assistant to head coach Bob King at New Mexico for the last three years.

Schmidt, a product of Kankakee, Ill., started his coaching career at Davenport Iowa West and compiled a two-year record of 29-15 before shifting to Moline Ill. High School where he posted a 15-8 mark in the 1963-1964 campaign.

Machen Hangs Up Gloves After Latest Ring Defeat

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Heavyweight Eddie Machen hung up his gloves for good after losing a 12-rounder Tuesday night to young California champion Henry Clark in the same ring where Machen began his pro career in 1955.

"I've gone to the end of the line and this is a good time to get out," said the 34-year-old Machen who won high ranking among heavyweights but never got to the top.

After knocking out Raul Flores in the same Sacramento Memorial Auditorium on March 22, 1955, he put together 23 more straight wins, most of them knockouts, before losing to Zora Foley in San Francisco on April 9, 1958.

Ranked No. 4 in 1964, Machen met Floyd Patterson at Stockholm July 5 of that year in a make-or-break bout for both and lost the decision. It was billed as a qualification to determine the challenger of Cassius Clay.

In Tuesday night's fight, the aging Machen made a go of it for seven rounds. Then the 22-year-old Clark, who was defending the state title he won last January, took charge in the eighth and won going away.

14 Coaches Out Of Jobs At Rocky River School

CLEVELAND — Two head coaches have been fired at suburban Rocky River High School and 12 others, including Don Chadwick, a former East Liverpool High School state wrestling champ, have resigned in the greatest coaching shakeup in the Cleveland area.

Chadwick has been head wrestling coach at Rocky River the past seven years.

Head football Coach Don Frail and Head basketball Coach Don Nichols were fired at a Rocky River Board of Education meeting Monday night.

Richard M. Donaldson, board president, declined to make public the reason for firings. "The reasons . . . are personal and private and will remain that way," Donaldson said.

Lewis Burkart, superintendent of schools, made the recommendation to fire the coaches and the five-man board voted 4-1.

Burkart declined comment, but Nichols and Frail received letters from him prior to the meeting. The letter to Frail said: "I do not believe you recognize and use the talent of boys so that the greatest potential possible is reached . . . I believe that too frequently boys are disillusioned . . . I do not believe you plan well."

Frail, 43, has been on the Rocky River staff 14 years and head coach for five years. His Southwestern Conference teams have a 24-14-4 record under his reign, including two conference titles.

Nichols, 38, has been on the staff 11 years and head basketball coach for three years. His record is 23-36.

Among the 12 coaches who also resigned are Don Chadwick, wrestling, and Dave Bischel, track.

None have resigned or been dismissed from their teaching positions.

U.S. Hockey Team Has Its Best Showing

VIENNA (AP) — "Barcelona, here I come."

The voice bellowed above the din of noisy American hockey players riding the bus back to the hotel after their last game of the 1967 World Hockey Championships.

They had just clobbered West Germany 8-3 and from the topics of conversation during the bus ride — sand, sun, bullfights, golf and other pleasures of life-it was plain they wanted to forget about icy hockey for awhile.

The U.S. team, called by Coach Murray Willamson the "skating wounded" because of a string of injuries, finished with a record of three wins, three losses and one tie.

Included among the victories was a stunning 4-3 upset over Sweden in the first game.

The Americans' final position in the group standings will be determined by today's match between Canada and Sweden. If Canada wins — and it is expected to — then the U.S. team will finish fourth ahead of Sweden. If not, fifth.

Fourth would be the best showing in a world championship since a third place in 1962 at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Whether fourth or fifth, the Americans have qualified for next year's Olympic Games at Grenoble, France.

Russia clinched the title here for the fifth straight year and Soviet shooters occupied the top five places in the individual scoring race.

Clay Continues Fight Over Draft

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay's fight to stay out of military service returned to Louisville today for a round in U. S. District Court.

A hearing was set to determine whether a three-judge board should be set up to hear the champion's contention that he was the victim of racial discrimination.

Clay filed suit here saying there was an imbalance of Negroes on the Louisville and other Kentucky draft boards.

The 6th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati rejected Clay's bid Tuesday for a court order to keep him from being inducted into the Army in April.

A three-judge court turned down the champion's request because of today's hearing at Louisville.

Causes Back Injury

Future Of Pete Gogolak Is Doubtful After Fall

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — Pete Gogolak, place-kicking star of the New York Giants, shrugged off a thought more painful than his back injury as he lay stretched out in an Army hospital bed.

"I don't want to think about being washed up in football," he said. "My main concern is getting well and getting healthy."

Gogolak, 24, was injured two weeks ago in a fall down six steps in a barracks for recruits at this sprawling Army post. He was inducted in January.

"At this time I still have trouble walking, but the main thing is that it's very painful," the former Cornell star told an interviewer Tuesday.

Gogolak's injury was disclosed Tuesday by his father, Dr. John Gogolak, a psychiatrist on the staff of Mt. McGregor State Hospital in Wilton, N.Y.

"He's in the lowest level of his mental life," Dr. Gogolak said of his son.

Officials at Walson Army Hospital diagnosed the injury as a lumbar sacral sprain, located in the lower back. Gogolak has a long history of spinal trouble.

Col. Lawrence S. Albrecht, hospital administrator, said Gogolak had been examined on six occasions at the orthopedic clinic and a number of times at a field dispensary for complaints about back trouble before the accident.

"We do not feel that this particular fall has caused any exaggeration or aggravation of his back problem," Albrecht said. If all goes well, he added, Gogolak should be ready to be released in 7-10 days.

But Albrecht said Gogolak hadn't responded to treatment as rapidly as expected.

"He's not happy about being in the hospital and I'm not sure what his feelings are about being in the Army," the Colonel said.

Gogolak was drafted in January after the government relaxed physical requirements for Army duty. He failed a military physical examination last year because of a spinal defect.

Clad in a blue hospital gown, Gogolak struggled in apparent pain as he tried to sit up in his bed. He couldn't recall exactly how he managed to fall.

Jones Scores 51 Points As Celtics Oust Knicks

Crawford, a New York Knickerbocker rookie, scored 26 points Tuesday night and played a fine floor game, but he readily admitted afterwards his jump shot is not up to National Basketball Association standards.

"I've got to work on it," he said.

How?

"I'm going over to the Boston dressing room and talk to Sam Jones."

Now there was a winning idea.

Sam jumped all over Madison Square Garden Tuesday night and it seemed just about everytime he hit the floor the Celtics had two more points. As a result, the Knicks were out of the NBA playoffs.

The final score was Boston 118, New York 109, with 51 of the Celtics' points — 38 from the field on 19 of 30 attempts and 13 of 17 free throws - made by jumping Jones.

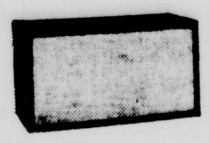

The victory was the third against one loss for the Celtics in the best- of-5 Eastern Division semfinal series and it moved the defending champions into the best-of-7 final against division-winning Philadelphia beginning Friday.

There is no action tonight. Western Division champion San Francisco hosts St. Louis Thursday in the opening of their best-of-7 set.

THE CHINESE HAD A GOOD IDEA

In ancient China, people paid their Doctors to keep them well. Any time someone got sick, their doctor was not paid. This could be possible here, providing our Doctors are given the opportunity to properly take care of you.

It is a fact now, that too many people are constantly taking home remedies which give only a temporary relief till the next dose. Too often, when they finally consult a physician the damage has become serious and the body has been ravaged so that a cure becomes difficult. Some self-treatments are good, but if the condition for which they are taken keeps returning, you need a physician.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

Causes Back Injury

Future Of Pete Gogolak Is Doubtful After Fall

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP) — Pete Gogolak, place-kicking star of the New York Giants, shrugged off a thought more painful than his back injury as he lay stretched out in an Army hospital bed.

"I don't want to think about being washed up in football," he said. "My main concern is getting well and getting healthy."

Gogolak, 24, was injured two weeks ago in a fall down six steps in a barracks for recruits at this sprawling Army post. He was inducted in January.

"At this time I still have trouble walking, but the main thing is that it's very painful," the former Cornell star told an interviewer Tuesday.

Gogolak's injury was disclosed Tuesday by his father, Dr. John Gogolak, a psychiatrist on the staff of Mt. McGregor State Hospital in Wilton, N.Y.

"He's in the lowest level of his mental life," Dr. Gogolak said of his son.

Officials at Walson Army Hospital diagnosed the injury as a lumbar sacral sprain, located in the lower back. Gogolak has a long history of spinal trouble.

Col. Lawrence S. Albrecht, hospital administrator, said Gogolak had been examined on six occasions at the orthopedic clinic and a number of times at a field dispensary for complaints about back trouble before the accident.

"We do not feel that this particular fall has caused any exaggeration or aggravation of his back problem," Albrecht said. If all goes well, he added, Gogolak should be ready to be released in 7-10 days.

But Albrecht said Gogolak hadn't responded to treatment as rapidly as expected.

"He's not happy about being in the hospital and I'm not sure what his feelings are about being in the Army," the Colonel said.

Gogolak was drafted in January after the government relaxed physical requirements for Army duty. He failed a military physical examination last year because of a spinal defect.

Clad in a blue hospital gown, Gogolak struggled in apparent pain as he tried to sit up in his bed. He couldn't recall exactly how he managed to fall.

Jones Scores 51 Points As Celtics Oust Knicks

Crawford, a New York Knickerbocker rookie, scored 26 points Tuesday night and played a fine floor game, but he readily admitted afterwards his jump shot is not up to National Basketball Association standards.

"I've got to work on it," he said.

How?

"I'm going over to the Boston dressing room and talk to Sam Jones."

Now there was a winning idea.

Sam jumped all over Madison Square Garden Tuesday night and it seemed just about everytime he hit the floor the Celtics had two more points. As a result, the Knicks were out of the NBA playoffs.

The final score was Boston 118, New York 109, with 51 of the Celtics' points — 38 from the field on 19 of 30 attempts and 13 of 17 free throws - made by jumping Jones.

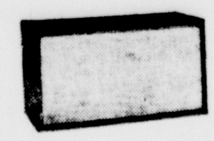

The victory was the third against one loss for the Celtics in the best- of-5 Eastern Division semfinal series and it moved the defending champions into the best-of-7 final against division-winning Philadelphia beginning Friday.

There is no action tonight. Western Division champion San Francisco hosts St. Louis Thursday in the opening of their best-of-7 set.

Sign 2 Halfbacks

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League announced Tuesday that they had signed halfbacks Billy Hunter and Earl Brown. Both were released last season by the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League.

R THE CHINESE HAD A GOOD IDEA

In ancient China, people paid their Doctors to keep them well. Any time someone got sick, their doctor was not paid. This could be possible here, providing our Doctors are given the opportunity to properly take care of you.

It is a fact now, that too many people are constantly taking home remedies which give only a temporary relief till the next dose. Too often, when they finally consult a physician the damage has become serious and the body has been ravaged so that a cure becomes difficult. Some self-treatments are good, but if the condition for which they are taken keeps returning, you need a physician.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

Grape-Growing Makes Hit With 4-H Youngsters

LISBON — A grape-growing project introduced for the first time this year is making a hit with Ohio 4-H club boys and girls, according to Robert Lewis, Columbiana County extension agent for 4-H.

Project enrollees begin by planting grape vines, either in a home vineyard — at least 10 vines — or a commercial planting of 100 vines or more.

They learn what grape varieties to select, when and where to plant, how to fertilize and water and how to control weeds, diseases and insects. Members are required to keep accurate records.

Club leaders point out the project normally will keep members interested and busy for several years since grapes usually do not bear until the third year and are not in full production until the fifth.

The project book, "Establishing My Vineyard," was prepared by Eldon S. Banta, extension fruit specialist at Ohio State University. The extension service and Sears Roebuck Foundation are co-sponsors of the project.

During his last visit to the United States, Congress voted Lafayette a township in Florida. He had by that time lost nearly all of his French properties and, during his lifetime, sold most of these land grants. His heirs sold the rest.

Strike

affected were General Hospital and some music variety shows done before live audiences such as Dean Martin, Danny Kaye, Red Skelton and Smothers Brothers.

While the strike by the 18,000-member AFTRA primarily centers around newsmen, actors, singers, dancers and announcers are also involved.

AFTRA has 700 members in the Chicago local, but only 350 to 400 are working at stations owned by ABC, NBC and CBS are striking.

An AFTRA spokesman in Chicago said the strike would halt production of commercials for broadcasting and blackout daytime panel shows, and live prime time shows.

Spokesmen for the networks said that most filmed and taped programs would go on as scheduled.

Supervisory personnel planned to take over news programs, including the networks' evening shows with Walter Cronkite, Chet Huntley and David Brinkley and Peter Jennings.

Plans were made to replace the soap operas with repeats of situation comedy series and other programs.

Programs taped after Nov. 18 may not be used as substitutes for live programs under an earlier agreement reached between AFTRA and the networks.

Negotiations between the networks and the union broke off Tuesday night. They had resumed Tuesday for the first time since March 8.

The principal issue involves 100 newsmen at network-owned stations in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. The newsmen are seeking a $325 base salary and a 50 per cent return of all commercial fees on sponsored programs on which they appear.

AFTRA would permit the stations to recapture 50 per cent of all commercial fees on news programs until the amount of all fees equaled the worker's basic salary. After that, the newsmen would retain the entire fee.

Previously, newsmen on network-owned stations have negotiated contracts on an individual basis. Salaries range from $225 to $350 a week, but some newsmen have earned as much as $800 a week with commercial fees.

The newsmen also have charged that they are not compensated for overtime work.

The networks had offered the newsmen $300 a week minimum with a $75 a day guarantee for sixth and seventh days worked. The networks also offered to allow newsmen to keep 13 per cent of their commercial fees for the first 18 months of a three-year contract and 25 per cent of the fees for the second 18 months.

All increases would be retroactive to Nov. 15, 1966, when the old contract expired.

The local newsmen are seeking the same provisions on commercial fees that the networks granted to network newsmen last January.

Other issues unresolved include commercial assignments for staff announcers and the question of automation on network-owned FM stations.

mission and the two committees should discuss the reports at the April meeting with the thought that the committees will be able to present their reports and recommendations at the May session.

Final reports are essential on the business district and transportation studies "because the direction of the balance of the report will depend greatly upon the final decisions in these two studies," Ziegler said.

Frank Mangano, secretary, was asked to search the minutes and compile a list of all the committees named to work with the commission. He was asked to furnish a copy of the committee personnel for each member of the commission.

At the outset of its 90-minute meeting in the Council chamber, the commission discussed the language in several sections of a proposed housing code for East Liverpool. Then it voted to submit the proposed code to Council for action. Council already has received a copy of proposed zoning regulations from the commission.

Attending the meeting were George Steele, chairman, J. Clifford Conley, Mayor George E. Willshaw, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey and Robert Owen.

Vietnam

North, but in South Vietnam a Communist ground gunner shot down an American C47 Dragon gunship 20 miles southeast of Da Nang, killing seven crewmen.

Accompanying Premier Ky to the Enterprise was Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and the U. S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

The trip evidently was planned to emphasize the support of Ky and Westmoreland for the bombing of the North, which both have said they consider vital to lessen infiltration of men and supplies into the South.

A lull in the ground fighting continued, but U.S. troops were making 18 big sweeps throughout the country and reported significant finds in the biggest — Operation Junction City, near the Cambodian border west of Saigon.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade uncovered two big base camp areas in the jungle of Communist War Zone C. The largest camp had 60 underground bunkers and the other hid an underground warehouse with a store of supplies which could not be sorted out immediately because of scattered fighting above ground.

In the skirmishes, two U.S. soldiers were killed and 15 wounded.

Although ground fighting was light, U.S. spokesmen reported a rash of terrorist acts and said that last week Viet Cong terrorists killed 56 Vietnamese civilians, mostly village officials and local government employes.

In the north coastal province of Quang Tin, the Viet Cong abducted 15 villagers, and government troops retaliated by taking even more hostages from a Communist-controlled village.

An official said the Viet Cong entered the village two days ago and took away 15 relatives of the local militia force. At daylight, the militia force went to a nearby village known to be controlled by the Viet Cong and rounded up 100 people. They freed the old men and women and the children but sent word to the Viet Cong the rest would be released when their own relatives were safe. Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon said it did not know the outcome.

U.S. B52 bombers from Guam struck twice in South Vietnam today, hitting suspected Communist troop concentrations in the central highlands and in the Mekong Delta.

The Air Force reported also that a B52 raid on March 23 "devastated the center" of the camp of the 275th Viet Cong Regiment in the Mekong Delta but it was not known whether the regiment had been caught at home.

U.S. officials reported that the rate of defectors from the Viet Cong continued to run at more than 1,000 a week, totaling 1,197 last week. The spokesmen said those who came over under the Chieu Hoi — Open Arms — program included 854 military men, 281 political workers and 52 other Viet Cong.

This brought the total for the year to 9,746 and the total since the Chieu Hoi program started in 1963 to 57,970, but there was no information on how many of the latter remained on the government side.

elected president appoints a premier as day-to-day chief of government. The premier in turn appoints a Cabinet which is subject to votes of confidence in the two-house legislature.

Suu, speaker of the Constituent Assembly, guided the body through a sometimes stormy seven-month session which produced the constitution.

He was educated in France as an engineer, was a minister in ex-Emperor Bao Dai's first Cabinet in 1949, was the political representative of the once powerful Hoa Hao and Cao Dai sects, and was also a Cabinet minister under the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Both Suu and Dan were arrested in November 1960 after an unsuccessful attempt to overthrow Diem. They were released three years later when the military ousted Diem and murdered him.

Dan, 49, was educated as a physician in Paris and took a public health degree at Harvard.

Together they offer a combined appeal to the sectionalism which now is a major factor in South Vietnamese politics. Suu was born in a Mekong Delta village, deep in South Vietnam. Dan comes from Vinh, a city in the southern part of North Vietnam.

Ky, like most of the members of the ruling military junta, is a refugee from North Vietnam. Thieu is from central Vietnam at the northern end of South Vietnam.

Kennedy Death Probe Moving Back To Court

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's John F. Kennedy assassination conspiracy probe is moving back into courtrooms, here and in Nebraska.

Attorney Steve Plotkin was scheduled to appear today before Criminal Dist. Judge Edward Haggerty to seek dismissal of Garrison's warrant for the arrest of Gordon Novel as a material witness here.

In Omaha, Neb., Lillie Mae McMaines — known in New Orleans as Sandra Moffett — will decide whether to waive extradition after her arrest as a material witness in Garrison's case.

Her appearance in court today was solely on the matter of waiving extradition. If Mrs. McMaines, 22, decides to fight her return to Louisiana, a preliminary hearing will be held April 25 in Omaha's Municipal Court.

The New Orleans Parish grand jury subpoenaed Layton P. Martens, 24, a former roommate of the late David W. Ferrie, to appear today.

Garrison has charged that Ferrie, Lee Harvey Oswald and Clay L. Shaw, a prominent retired New Orleans executive, conspired in New Orleans to murder President Kennedy.

Shaw, 54, was indicted by the grand jury last week on a murder conspiracy charge and is free on a $10,000 bond.

The Warren Commission, named by President Johnson to investigate the assassination, concluded Oswald, a New Orleans-born ex- Marine was the sole assassin.

A Garrison aide said Tuesday the trial of Shaw "and others" is at least three to six months away, but declined to elaborate.

Perry Raymond Russo, 25, Baton Rouge, testified at a preliminary hearing for Shaw two weeks ago that he heard Shaw, Ferrie and Oswald plotting in mid-September 1963 to kill Kennedy.

The plotting, Russo said, occurred following a party at Ferrie's home. Russo said Sandra Moffett was at the party and at one point referred to her as "the girl I brought."

Mrs. McMaines, who said she was known as Sandra Moffett in New Orleans, said she did not attend the party and did not meet Ferrie until 1965. She is now the wife of Harold McMaines, 48, a part-time Omaha minister.

Choir Formal Plans Are Set

Plans were completed for the choir formal during a meeting of the East Liverpool High School Choir Parents Tuesday night at Memorial Auditorium. William Cunningham, president, led the discussion.

Committees and chaperons were named for the formal April 28 at the IBOP Hall from 8:30 to 11:30, with a combo, "The Jokers," performing.

Cunningham also named as a nominating committee Mrs. J. B. Cartwright, Mrs. Neil Hayden and Mrs. Carl Slaven.

Robert Shankovich, director of the choir, reported on tentative plans for the senior choir members' trip to Temple University, Philadelphia. The trip, planned for April 13, will be discussed at a special meeting April 4 at 7:30 p. m. All members, especially the parents of senior choir members, are asked to attend.

A social hour followed the meeting.

The next meeting will be April 25 at 7:30 p. m. at the auditorium.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: An inexpensive magazine rack makes a very attractive holder for blankets or comforters.

You then have the blanket handy if you need an extra one at night.

Also, this eliminates getting out of bed in the middle of the night to poke around in the closets.

Nor do you have to fold it on the foot of the bed each day where it many times falls off. . . .

V.J.D.

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: when I make hot tea I insert the tea bag tally into my cup handle.

This way the tally never falls into the cup when pouring in the hot water.

MRS. F. ARKO.

Dear Heloise: I loosen the glass stoppers in my decanters and glass bottles by holding the neck of the decanter over the flame of a candle and turning the top to heat it slowly and evenly. (Don't let it get too hot.)

This will expand the glass neck enough to release the stopper.

All one has to do afterwards is to rub the stopper of the glass bottle with the candle wax. Then scrape most of the excess wax off of the stoper.

This will leave the pores in the glass filled with wax and prevent it from sticking again!

HENRY J. MOYER.

Dear Heloise: When I have finished with a pattern, I always write on the outside of the envelope the exact amount of material actually used.

The next time I use that pattern, I know the exact yardage it requires and thereby save some on materials.

SHIRLEY MORNINGSTAR.

Dear Heloise: I took a small book and placed different colors of floss between the leaves with ends sticking out the top of the book.

Also, I put my needles through the front covers and keep a rubber band around the book when it's not in use.

This idea saves time, trouble, and money.

SKEETER.

Dear Heloise: Be sure and wipe off your chrome whistling teakettle when hot or quite warm instead of when cold.

You will have a clean, shiny one.

FLORENCE THOMPSON.

Dear Heloise: I use my large pullman-type suitcases for out-of-season clothes storage.

These suitcases are rarely used and when or if needed, it is a simple matter to transfer the clothing to another place for awhile.

Sure saves good closet and storage space.

NORA MOORE.

Brooklyn Man's Suitcase Stolen From Auto Here

Samuel Douglas of Brooklyn, N. Y., reported to police early today a suitcase containing clothing and other articles valued at a total of $150 was stolen from an auto on a parking lot at the Inn-Town Motel on E. 3rd St. between 5:30 and 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Douglas telephoned the police department from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport, explaining he did not discover the loss until he started to remove the suitcase from a rental car to board a plane. He said the car was locked when he left it on the parking lot, but the left front door was unlatched when he returned. The suitcase contained a suit, a shirt, underclothing and miscellaneous toilet articles, he said.

Meanwhile, Leon Billeaud Jr., a resident of the Travelers Hotel, told officers a Louisiana license tag, 230-047, was stolen from his horse van while it was parked on E. 4th St. between 11:30 p. m. Tuesday and 7 a.m. today.

Melvin Brown of Lisbon St. reported the radio antenna on his auto was broken while it was parked at the Pleasant Heights Laundromat on Lisbon St. between 7:30 and 11:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: An inexpensive magazine rack makes a very attractive holder for blankets or comforters.

You then have the blanket handy if you need an extra one at night.

Also, this eliminates getting out of bed in the middle of the night to poke around in the closets.

Nor do you have to fold it on the foot of the bed each day where it many times falls off. . . .

V.J.D.

What a hot idea for a cold person. Great!

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: when I make hot tea I insert the tea bag tally into my cup handle.

This way the tally never falls into the cup when pouring in the hot water.

MRS. F. ARKO.

Dear Heloise: I loosen the glass stoppers in my decanters and glass bottles by holding the neck of the decanter over the flame of a candle and turning the top to heat it slowly and evenly. (Don't let it get too hot.)

This will expand the glass neck enough to release the stopper.

All one has to do afterwards is to rub the stopper of the glass bottle with the candle wax. Then scrape most of the excess wax off of the stoper.

This will leave the pores in the glass filled with wax and prevent it from sticking again!

HENRY J. MOYER.

Dear Heloise: When I have finished with a pattern, I always write on the outside of the envelope the exact amount of material actually used.

The next time I use that pattern, I know the exact yardage it requires and thereby save some on materials.

SHIRLEY MORNINGSTAR.

Dear Heloise: I took a small book and placed different colors of floss between the leaves with ends sticking out the top of the book.

Also, I put my needles through the front covers and keep a rubber band around the book when it's not in use.

This idea saves time, trouble, and money.

SKEETER.

Dear Heloise: Be sure and wipe off your chrome whistling teakettle when hot or quite warm instead of when cold.

You will have a clean, shiny one.

FLORENCE THOMPSON.

Dear Heloise: I use my large pullman-type suitcases for out-of-season clothes storage.

These suitcases are rarely used and when or if needed, it is a simple matter to transfer the clothing to another place for awhile.

Sure saves good closet and storage space.

NORA MOORE.

LBJ Says Crime Statistics Are 'Our National Disgrace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson pictures Americans as living in a "climate of fear" generated by crime in the streets. U.S. crime statistics, he says, are "our national disgrace."

Johnson made the statements Tuesday night in calling for speedy enactment of his anti-crime legislation, terming it "fundamental to the safety of the individual, the security of the home and the enduring stability of our great society."

Addressing about 600 law enforcement and court officials, participants in the National Conference on Crime Control, Johnson said "white collar" crimes—petty theft, embezzlement, consumes fraud and anti-trust violations—"dwarf all crimes of violence" in purely economic terms.

"The grim statistics of our crime record is our national disgrace," he said. But more important than any figures on crime, he added, is "the climate of fear that crime creates."

Johnson aimed some of his remarks directly at the police officials, judges and investigators in his audience.

The conference seeks to spark implementation of the more than 200 recommendations made by the President's National Crime Commission in its report last month.

"Many of you are on the front lines in the fight against crime," Johnson said. "You know the drudgery and you know the danger of that fight, and the occasional small triumphs that really make it all very worthwhile."

The conferees, in one of a series of panel discussions, went into investigating organized crime—and agreed a principal difficulty is that police don't trust each other sufficiently to pass along vital information on organized crime.

Ohio Official Turns Down Bid To Enter Milk Dispute

By The Associated Press

It will take more than an invitation by the National Farmers Organization to mediate a dispute it started to get him to intervene, Director John M. Stackhouse of the Ohio Department of Agriculture says.

"The authority of the Department of Agriculture to mediate such matters appears to be limited to controversies between farmers and processors and then only when invited to do so by all parties," Stackhouse told a news conference late Tuesday.

Two Ohio NFO officials had requested that Stackhouse arrange a meeting to discuss possible settlement of the Buckeye State portion of the NFO's 25-state milk withholding action, now two weeks old.

A milk bottle was thrown through the windshield of a milk truck from a group of about 30 men demonstrating at the Hillside Dairy Co. in the Cleveland suburb. No one was injured.

Police identified the demonstrators as NFO members. This was their third day of picketing at Hillside Dairy.

Company officials complained that the plant and dairy store's truck entrances had been blocked with beams the size of telephone poles. A contingent of 14 officers came out, formed two lines and forced back the demonstrators while two trucks made bulk milk deliveries.

The police also escorted about 30 Hillside retail delivery trucks onto the grounds as they returned from the day's rounds.

Hunt Pressed For Abductor Of Young Girl

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 100 police and 30 FBI agents are on one of the city's biggest manhunts in years for the kidnapper of an 8-year-old daughter of an unemployed migrant from Loebel, Ky.

Black-haired Carrie Stephens, one of four children of Daniel Stephens, 41, and his wife Alice, disappeared Monday night with a man who said he needed help in finding his dog.

He appeared while Carrie and five playmates were in front of the Stephens' home in the uptown district, densely populated by migrants from rural sections of other states. He offered a dollar to any who could find his missing dog.

Three boys looked in one direction while Carrie and two girls went with the stranger in another. The girls told police the man finally grasped Carrie's arm and led her away.

Police artists, with the youngsters' help, made a sketch of the stranger and 7,500 copies were given to searchers. The composite was that of a portly man of about 40 years old, medium height, wearing horn-rim glasses, a three-quarter length tan coat, a red and white shirt and dark trousers.

The hunt by detectives, police agents, friends and neighbors covered a two-mile radius. They peried into alleys, secluded basements and isolated areas in nearby Lincoln Park. City crews joined with police and dogs of the K9 corps in checking sewers.

There was no trace of the girl or her clothing.

Explosion Rips Service Station In Wapakoneta

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — An explosion reduced a service station building to rubble, showered glass and bricks into near-downtown Wapakoneta streets but amazingly inflicted no personal injuries.

Co-owners Byros Slattery and Norman Rusebush of Slattery's Service had closed up about an hour before the blast rocked this small western Ohio city Tuesday night.

Fire Chief Edward Osborn said a gas leak may have touched off the blast.

Osborn estimated about $60,000 damage. The explosion, originating inside the 150 by 50 foot building, blew out all four walls, and the roof in collapsing flattened two automobiles and a truck.

Rebels in besieging Kaifeng, China, in 1642, destroyed the city's seawall, causing a flood that drowned an estimated 300,000 inhabitants.

Ohio Senate Confirms Three Appointments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Senate has confirmed three appointments by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Ralph V. Ramsayer, Canton Republican, to the State Medical Board for a term ending March 18, 1974.

Judge Reported OK

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judge Wallace S. Gourley, 62, of U.S. District Court, stricken by a heart attack Monday while consulting his physician, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Allegheny General Hospital.

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 100 police and 30 FBI agents are on one of the city's biggest manhunts in years for the kidnapper of an 8-year-old daughter of an unemployed migrant from Loebel, Ky.

Black-haired Carrie Stephens, one of four children of Daniel Stephens, 41, and his wife Alice, 30, disappeared Monday night with a man who said he needed help in finding his dog.

He appeared while Carrie and five playmates were in front of the Stephens' home in the uptown district, densely populated by migrants from rural sections of other states. He offered a dollar to any who could find his missing dog.

Three boys looked in one direction while Carrie and two girls went with the stranger in another. The girls told police the man finally grasped Carrie's arm and led her away.

Police artists, with the youngsters' help, made a sketch of the stranger and 7,500 copies were given to searchers. The composite was that of a portly man of about 40 years old, medium height, wearing horn-rim glasses, a three-quarter length tan coat, a red and white shirt and dark trousers.

The hunt by detectives, police agents, friends and neighbors covered a two-mile radius. They carried into alleys, secluded basements and isolated areas in nearby Lincoln Park. City crews joined with police and dogs of the K9 corps in checking sewers.

There was no trace of the girl or her clothing.

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Frederick F. Fisher, well-known musician and entertainer who was the leader for a number of years of a comic band, was found dead in his home Monday. As clarinetist Fred (Schnickelfritz) Fisher he led the comic band for a number of years and appeared in movies and film shorts.

Explosion Rips Service Station In Wapakoneta

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — An explosion reduced a service station building to rubble, showered glass and bricks into near-downtown Wapakoneta streets but amazingly inflicted no personal injuries.

Co-owners Byros Slattery and Norman Ruedebush of Slattery's Service had closed up about an hour before the blast rocked this small western Ohio city Tuesday night.

Fire Chief Edward Osborn said a gas leak may have touched off the blast.

Osborn estimated about $60,000 damage. The explosion, originating inside the 150 by 50 foot building, blew out all four walls, and the roof in collapsing flattened two automobiles and a truck.

Rebels in besieging Kaifeng, China, in 1642, destroyed the city's seawall, causing a flood that drowned an estimated 300,000 inhabitants.

Judge Reported OK

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judge Wallace S. Gourley, 62, of U.S. District Court, stricken by a heart attack Monday while consulting his physician, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Allegheny General Hospital.

Lightning kills or injures about 2,000 people in the United States each year, mostly in rural areas.

Ohioans Will Turn Clocks Forward An Hour April 29

By The Associated Press

Ohioans will turn their clocks forward for an hour on April 29, along with inhabitants of about 40 other states, under a daylight saving bill adopted by Congress.

The law, which goes into effect April 1, directs all states—unless their legislature adopts a special law to that effect—to observe Daylight Saving Time from 2 a.m. the last Sunday of April (April 29) until 2 a.m. the last Sunday in October (Oct. 29).

Tennessee became the latest state to take a stand on the issue Tuesday as its Senate at Nashville rejected a bill by a 20-12 vote to keep the state on standard time.

At last report, legislation to approve or exempt their states under the new law were pending in six states—Arkansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, South Carolina and Texas.

The matter is up in the air in five other states, including two of Ohio's neighbors — Indiana and Kentucky. The others are Florida, Georgia and South Dakota.

Kentucky obtained a "year of grace" from Alan Boyd, federal secretary of transportation. This left the matter up to local option and officials in some areas —such as northern Kentucky just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati — have indicated they will go on daylight time.

Indiana's legislature adopted a law permitting local government units to have one clock at government headquarters marked "Official time' in compliance with the federal act, while actually observing whatever time is set by local ordinance.

Both Indiana and Kentucky are divided into central and eastern time zones.

South Dakota's legislature voted to exempt the state from the federal requirements, but advocates of daylight time are circulating referendum petitions to defer the law until the 1968 general election.

Georgia's legislature approved a measure to put the state on Daylight Saving Time — if four of five bordering states do the same. Among Georgia's neighbors, Alabama, North Carolina and Tennessee are ready to shift to daylight time.

Ohioans Will Turn Clocks Forward An Hour April 29

By The Associated Press

Ohioans will turn their clocks forward for an hour on April 29, along with inhabitants of about 40 other states, under a daylight saving bill adopted by Congress.

The law, which goes into effect April 1, directs all states—unless their legislature adopts a special law to that effect—to observe Daylight Saving Time from 2 a.m. the last Sunday of April (April 29) until 2 a.m. the last Sunday in October (Oct. 29).

Tennessee became the latest state to take a stand on the issue Tuesday as its Senate at Nashville rejected a bill by a 20-12 vote to keep the state on standard time.

At last report, legislation to approve or exempt their states under the new law were pending in six states—Arkansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, South Carolina and Texas.

The matter is up in the air in five other states, including two of Ohio's neighbors — Indiana and Kentucky. The others are Florida, Georgia and South Dakota.

Kentucky obtained a "year of grace" from Alan Boyd, federal secretary of transportation. This left the matter up to local option and officials in some areas —such as northern Kentucky just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati — have indicated they will go on daylight time.

Indiana's legislature adopted a law permitting local government units to have one clock at government headquarters marked "Official time' in compliance with the federal act, while actually observing whatever time is set by local ordinance.

Both Indiana and Kentucky are divided into central and eastern time zones.

South Dakota's legislature voted to exempt the state from the federal requirements, but advocates of daylight time are circulating referendum petitions to defer the law until the 1968 general election.

Georgia's legislature approved a measure to put the state on Daylight Saving Time — if four of five bordering states do the same. Among Georgia's neighbors, Alabama, North Carolina and Tennessee are ready to shift to daylight time.

Outstanding Salesman To Be Named For J.A.

Plans were announced today for a contest to select the outstanding Junior Achievement salesman in East Liverpool.

It will be open to the 120 teen-age girls and boys who are participating in the program here, Joseph Coons, president of the board of directors, said.

Twenty cities in the central state region will be represented. Five regional winners will compete for the national "Junior Achievement Salesman of the Year" award in New York during May.

The local contest will get under way this week, with contestants to be screened through a series of tests and interviews. The contest finalists will vie for the East Liverpool J. A. "Salesman of the Year" award before a panel of judges from the local board of directors.

The qualification for entry is for the student to have reached a certain sales quota.

The judging will be done by Wayne Snyder of the J. C. Penney Co. store, Ralph Finley of Smith & Phillips, Jack Hales of CATV of Ohio Valley, Inc., and Coons.

Junior Achievement Company Gets Award

JACS, an East Liverpool Junior Achievement company sponsored by the Midland Works of Crucible Steel Co., has placed second in a regional "company of the month" contest in February.

JACS scored 208 points, placing second to MIRADCO, a Junior Achievement firm in the Dover - New Philadelphia area sponsored by the Miracle Adhesives Corp., which had 218 points. MIRADCO also won the contest in January.

Judge Penalizes 2 Drivers As Samaritan Bid Backfires

A case backfired today in Municipal Court in which a 24 - year-old East Liverpool man had attempted to "take the rap" for his brother-in-law charged with speeding 90 miles an hour on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. late Saturday night.

James E. Neville of Monaca St., who admitted to Judge Samuel M. Chertoff that he was the driver, wound up with a 10-day jail term on a charge of operating an auto after his permit had been suspended and a five-day sentence on the speeding charge.

Robert A. Berdine of 210 Jefferson St., who allegedly attempted to assume the responsibility for the speeding charge after Neville had been halted by the Highway Patrol, drew a 10-day suspended term on a charge of knowingly permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car. Berdine also had been charged with speeding, but the second charge was dismissed by the judge after the facts were untangled.

Neville, first to face the court, told the judge that he actually was driving the auto when it was pursued by a patrol officer. But, he said, Berdine switched places with him after the auto was halted at Westgate School.

THE CASE was compounded further by the fact that the halted car drifted backward and collided with the patrol cruiser, allegedly causing $300 damage. Patrolman Leonard J. Hepfner halted the car after a pursuit from Wellsville about 11 p. m. Saturday.

Charles Lang, counsel for Neville, said his client was involved in an auto mishap about three years ago and made arrangements to pay for damage to the other car since he had no liability insurance. Neville has paid a substantial amount on the damage, he said. It was as a result of the crash that Neville lost his permit under the financial responsibility law, the attorney said.

Questioned by the judge, Neville admitted he had been in the local court previously on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and speeding 82 miles an hour.

The court lectured Neville for "jeopardizing the life of an officer" who pursued him at the high speed. The judge commented that he had shown leniency to Neville in the past, but added: "I think in this case the public would demand that I do something with you."

Berdine's jail sentence was suspended on condition he pays for the damage to the patrol car and obeys all laws in the future. The judge warned if he is cited on another traffic violation, he will serve the 10 - day sentence.

Aimed At 1 Man-1 Vote Rule

Two States Eye U.S. Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alaska and Iowa appear the states most likely to next petition for a U.S. constitutional convention aimed at overturning the Supreme Court's one man-one vote ruling.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the leading congressional critic of the court's ruling that each house of a state legislature must be apportioned by population, contends that if two more states petition for a convention, Congress must call one.

He is ready to offer the motion.

By his count, 32 states already have petitioned. But other congressmen dispute Dirksen's count because the states' documents vary. Article V of the Constitution says Congress shall call a convention on application from the legislatures of two-thirds of the states, or 34 of the present 50.

A petition from Alaska or Iowa is no sure thing.

In each, the House has approved a petition but the Senate has not acted. Observers in each state capital rate the possibility of favorable Senate action no better than 50-50.

An Associated Press survey indicates the issue is alive in four other states — Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

State Sen. Thomas Schweigert, a Republican, introduced a petition resolution in Michigan Friday. Gov. George Romney has taken no position on it. But Romney helped write a provision of the 1963 Michigan constitution which required area to be a factor in establishing state Senate districts.

That provision was later thrown out in court and the Michigan Legislature was reapportioned on a very strict one man-one vote basis. Democrats, who led the fight for one man-one vote, won overwhelming control in 1964 but Republicans have now narrowly recaptured the legislature. The outlook is uncertain, however, for Schweigert's proposal.

The New York Legislature is expected to consider such a petition this week. Observers rate the possibility of approval as unlikely.

A resolution sponsored by 23 of the 27 Republican senators was introduced in the Pennsylvania Senate March 14 and is now in a committee. Republicans control both branches of the legislature. The resolution likely will be adopted by the Senate, but it faces more opposition in the House. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer has endorsed it.

A vote on the issue tentatively is scheduled in the Wisconsin Senate April 4. In 1965, a similar resolution was approved by the Senate 16 to 15 but lost 51 to 48 in the Assembly.

An aide to Dirksen said if two more states approve petitions, the Republican leader proposes to move in the Senate that Congress call a convention.

Dirksen contends that motion would not be subject to committee hearings. Dirksen has twice lost in moves to have Congress initiate a constitutional convention to consider one man-one vote.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., among others, contends that petitions adopted by Washington and Wyoming in 1963 cannot properly be counted in Dirksen's tally of 32 states which have filed petitions.

The Wyoming and Washington resolutions simply opposed federal court jurisdiction over apportionment of either house of a state legislature. This year's sessions of both those legislatures have adjourned.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., argued to the Senate last week that 26 of the petitions were adopted by legislatures which were malapportioned at the time and should be considered invalid.

15 Pastors Wait Seminar's Start

LISBON — Fifteen area clergymen are enrolled for a pastoral counseling seminar arranged by the Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic here.

The first of 10 weekly classes will be held Thursday night in the social room at Trinity United Presbyterian Church on E. Lincoln Way.

Donald G. Roberts, administrative director of the clinic, said classes will be held each Thursday. Sessions 8 and 9 will be field trips to Woodside Receiving Hospital, Youngstown, and Massillon State Hospital, and the 10th class will be "Graduation."

Dr. Ward W. Mowry of Youngstown, chief psychologist at the clinic, will be in charge.

"We wanted to keep the seminar at 12 students, but there was considerable demand," Robert said. He intends to arrange a seminar for welfare workers next, then another course for clergymen, probably next fall or early next year.

Ohio House Airs Highway Safety Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings are under way in the Ohio House on a sweeping highway safety proposal with sponsors obviously at odds with administration officials over some of the measure's key provisions.

The disagreement—or at least breakdown in communications—was noted Tuesday night when Rep. Gordon M. Scherer R-71 Cincinnati, Hamilton and Sen. Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati explained their omnibus bill to members of the House Highways and Motor Vehicles Committee.

Key area of dispute was a provision requiring periodic inspection of motor vehicles. Maloney said it was included to bring Ohio into compliance with the Federal Highway Safety Act.

He referred to recent newspaper stories in which Col. Robert Chiaramonte, superintendent of the Ohio Highway Patrol, was quoted as saying random inspection of autos would be sufficient to curtail accidents resulting from mechanical failure.

"I don't believe this argument would bear close scrutiny," the senator said, adding that "even if 250,000 cars a year were inspected at random, that still would leave hundreds of thousands of cars on the highways. There are 5.8 million licensed motor vehicles in Ohio," Maloney said.

Chiarmonte was not present for the hearing, nor was his boss, Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson. But they were quoted earlier as saying they did not believe the federal act actually would require auto inspections.

Maloney conceded that tentative standards in the federal act are not specific on the subject but he said the language "was emphatic. It said states would be required to have 'at least annual' motor vehicle inspections."

He pointed out that Congress left considerable discretion in the setting of standards with the new federal Department of Transportation. "But these will come following consultation with the states," he said.

Other provisions of the omnibus bill generally would require driver education in the high schools and increase driver license fees to pay for it, permit limited use of unmarked police cars, implied consent for alcohol blood tests as a prerequisite to obtaining a driver's license, and stiffer penalties for violation of Ohio's traffic laws.

The measure also would require separate examination and licensing of motorcycle operators and spell out mandatory safety equipment for them, including night running lights and helmets for passengers as well as operators.

License Suspensions Ordered In Speeding

LISBON — Michael Lee Knowles, 17, of Sebring lost the right to drive for 20 days Tuesday at a juvenile traffic hearing in the Courthouse here. He was cited for speeding.

The driver's license of Dennis J. Carlisle, 17, of 225 W. Chestnut St., Lisbon, was suspended for 15 days for speeding and failure to stop in an assured clear distance.

Donald R. Morrison, 17, of Minerva, also cited for speeding, was fined $15.

Aimed At 1 Man-1 Vote Rule

Two States Eye U.S. Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alaska and Iowa appear the states most likely to next petition for a U.S. constitutional convention aimed at overturning the Supreme Court's one man-one vote ruling.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the leading congressional critic of the court's ruling that each house of a state legislature must be apportioned by population, contends that if two more states petition for a convention, Congress must call one.

He is ready to offer the motion.

By his count, 32 states already have petitioned. But other congressmen dispute Dirksen's count because the states' documents vary. Article V of the Constitution says Congress shall call a convention on application from the legislatures of two-thirds of the states, or 34 of the present 50.

A petition from Alaska or Iowa is no sure thing.

In each, the House has approved a petition but the Senate has not acted. Observers in each state capital rate the possibility of favorable Senate action no better than 50-50.

An Associated Press survey indicates the issue is alive in four other states — Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

State Sen. Thomas Schweigert, a Republican, introduced a petition resolution in Michigan Friday. Gov. George Romney has taken no position on it. But Romney helped write a provision of the 1963 Michigan constitution which required area to be a factor in establishing state Senate districts.

That provision was later thrown out in court and the Michigan Legislature was reapportioned on a very strict one man-one vote basis. Democrats, who led the fight for one man-one vote, won overwhelming control in 1964 but Republicans have now narrowly recaptured the legislature. The outlook is uncertain, however, for Schweigert's proposal.

The New York Legislature is expected to consider such a petition this week. Observers rate the possibility of approval as unlikely.

A resolution sponsored by 23 of the 27 Republican senators was introduced in the Pennsylvania Senate March 14 and is now in a committee. Republicans control both branches of the legislature. The resolution likely will be adopted by the Senate, but it faces more opposition in the House. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer has endorsed it.

A vote on the issue tentatively is scheduled in the Wisconsin Senate April 4. In 1965, a similar resolution was approved by the Senate 16 to 15 but lost 51 to 48 in the Assembly.

An aide to Dirksen said if two more states approve petitions, the Republican leader proposes to move in the Senate that Congress call a convention.

Dirksen contends that motion would not be subject to committee hearings. Dirksen has twice lost in moves to have Congress initiate a constitutional convention to consider one man-one vote.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., among others, contends that petitions adopted by Washington and Wyoming in 1963 cannot properly be counted in Dirksen's tally of 32 states which have filed petitions.

The Wyoming and Washington resolutions simply opposed federal court jurisdiction over apportionment of either house of a state legislature. This year's sessions of both those legislatures have adjourned.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., argued to the Senate last week that 26 of the petitions were adopted by legislatures which were malapportioned at the time and should be considered invalid.

15 Pastors Wait Seminar's Start

LISBON — Fifteen area clergymen are enrolled for a pastoral counseling seminar arranged by the Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic here.

The first of 10 weekly classes will be held Thursday night in the social room at Trinity United Presbyterian Church on E. Lincoln Way.

Donald G. Roberts, administrative director of the clinic, said classes will be held each Thursday. Sessions 8 and 9 will be field trips to Woodside Receiving Hospital, Youngstown, and Massillon State Hospital, and the 10th class will be "Graduation."

Dr. Ward W. Mowry of Youngstown, chief psychologist at the clinic, will be in charge.

"We wanted to keep the seminar at 12 students, but there was considerable demand," Robert said. He intends to arrange a seminar for welfare workers next, then another course for clergymen, probably next fall or early next year.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The letter written by "Grandmother-in-Waiting" couldn't have come at a better time.

Like many other girls, I'm pregnant and soon will sign papers to put my child up for adoption. I've been dreading this terrible ordeal for months, but now that I've read the grandmother's beautiful letter I know my child will be received by loving arms.

Until I read that letter I was heartsick and miserable. I was sure I had let down my parents, my friends and my child. It never occurred to me that my sorrow could bring happiness to others.

When the grandmother described the new baby's room — ready and waiting — and the joyous parents-to-be counting the days, and aunts and uncles by the dozens waiting by the phone to get the happy news, I shed tears of happiness.

What is ahead for me will be much easier to face now, Ann. I pray to God my baby will get the kind of welcome described by Grandmother-to-be, and in my heart of hearts I feel certain he will. — GRATEFUL YOUNG GIRL.

Dear Young Girl: I received scores of letters from girls who share your problem. They all expressed deep appreciation to the adoptive grandmother who wrote. I hope this great lady sees your letter and knows how much good she has done. And now, here is another expression of gratitude.

Disappointed

Dear Ann: So much is said about the unwed mother these days. I wonder if anyone realized the heartache of the woman who must give up her first grandchild.

Can you imagine what it means to suffer in silence when friends and relatives bring out their baby pictures, repeat their cute sayings and recount the joys of being a grandmother? I know, because I've been there.

The grandmother of an out-of-wedlock child must be mature and strong. She must live with the knowledge that another woman, somewhere, is enjoying all the pleasures that might have belonged to her.

I pray with all my heart that my Granny substitute is like the wonderful woman who wrote the letter that appeared in your column. Please tell her so. — GRANDMOTHER-in-SILENCE.

Dear Grandmother: You told her — and in a way I never could. Thank you, dear.

Budding Writer

Dear Ann: Please tell me what you think of people who hang notes on furniture asking guests not to set wet glasses on the tables and demonishing cigarette smokers to use ash trays.

We have close friends whom we like to visit, but these notes stuck all over the house make my husband and me uncomfortable.

We are civilized people who have pretty good furniture at home and we don't need written instructions on how to behave when we go visiting.

Will you tell us if we are too sensitive or are they out of line? — UNWELCOME FEELING.

Dear Feeling: Those notes are an insult and you have every right to say so.

The gracious hostess provides coasters with the drinks and sets out sufficient ash trays. If a guest is too stiff to use a coaster or an ash tray he is not about to read signs. Clods who damage furniture should be policed carefully and not invited back.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

As Bad As TV Paints It?

Can we believe what we see on TV's news programs? This question is haunting more and more news people and sociologists, because the answer is becoming less definite and more complex.

Hal Humphrey

Henry Fairlie, a well-known British political commentator now covering Washington, has joined the skeptics who have decided TV distorts as much as it reports. He does not mean this distortion is deliberate but feels it is inherent in TV's nature to give viewers the illusion they are seeing the real thing, when actually they aren't.

-:-

WRITING in the spring issue of the quarterly Horizon magazine, Fairlie examines the problem from many angles, including a first-hand experience during the James Meredith civil rights march.

"The television news coverage, of the Meredith march across Mississippi, during the couple of days when I accompanied it myself, constantly appalled me," Fairlie writes. "It was near the beginning of the march, when it had barely gotten organized and when the numbers were few and the individuals composing the numbers were anything but impressive.

"All of the familiar hazards of television reporting were displayed. A straggling column (it was at the time little more) could be made on the small screen to look like an army. When the cameras were rolling, the marchers pulled themselves together and played the role expected of them. . ."

FAIRLIE faults the TV correspondents who do not "provide the corrective" for pictures like those he saw from the Meredith march.

"Most television reporting just describes the pictures and by doing so reinforces them," he says.

The "anchor" men in the TV studios also are unwitting accomplices to the distortion, Fairlie believes.

"There is something very professional and very engaging about the television manners of Chet Huntley and David Brinkley and Walter Cronkite," he points out. "All of them, in dissimilar ways, cultivate a dead-pan approach.

"In Huntley, it is made to suggest a judicial impartiality; in Brinkley, an ironical detachment; in Cronkite, an unfailing common sense. Each of them by his manner reinforces the impact of the pictures over which he is speaking, suggesting that they can be taken at face value."

IN THIS SENSE Fairlie agrees with the bumptious and ever-more-famous Toronto professor, Marshall McLuhan, who has proclaimed that "The Medium is the Message."

Newspapers prey on violence just as TV does, but the impact of violence on TV is much greater, as Fairlie says, because violence is movement and movement is what TV cannot help emphasizing.

And because TV news "jerks from incident to incident . . . it is almost impossible, these days, to consider any problem or any event except as a crisis; and, by this very way of looking at it, it in fact becomes a crisis," writes Fairlie.

He has no pat solution for slowing down this always-quickening process of generating anxiety to which millions of us are exposed daily by looking at the world through a TV tube.

BUT FAIRLIE does offer the following suggestion:

"Many of our unnecessary anxieties about the way in which we live, about the fearful things that may happen to us, might be allayed if television news began, now and then, to say: 'It has been a dull day. But we have collected some rather interesting pictures for you, of no particular significance.'

"Television news has a deep responsibility to try to be dull, from time to time, and let the world go to sleep."

That's a noble thought of Fairlie's, but if a Huntley or a Cronkite tried it just once, the sponsors would be down on him fast. Madison Avenue thrives on anxiety and sells denture stickum, dandruff remover and breath freshener to anxious people who at least want to look nice and feel presentable when the end of the world comes.

Local Union Pickets Middletown Hospital

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Pickets representing Local 1171 of the AFL-CIO Public Service Employes Union continued to walk outside Middletown Hospital Tuesday.

Hospital officials said picketing had no effect on the service. The union, which claims to represent 350 nonprofessional employes, but has not been recognized by the hospital management, struck Monday.

'Checkless Society'

Computer To Pay Grocery Bill At Supermarket

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the not too distant future, you'll walk into a supermarket, buy the week's groceries and order a computer to pay the bill without one penny or even a check changing hands.

That's the forecast of George W. Mitchell, a member of the Federal Reserve Board, in what he and the banking community term a "checkless society."

"It's coming very, very fast," Mitchell said today in an interview. "By the early 1970s, the system might be set up. When people find out it's easier and more convenient to do business this way they'll take to the change."

Mitchell said computers will make the new system possible but won't eliminate coins, dollar bills or some checks. But he and others foresee the "cash card" as the main money instrument of the future.

Mitchell said it will have one excellent side effect — eliminating checks which might bounce.

Coins and currency make up slightly more than $39 billion of a total supply of money exceeding $173 billion. The remaining $134 billion is in 70 million checking accounts.

Mitchell, who is working on the checkless society idea for the board, estimated that Americans write at least 60 million checks each day, inundating bankers and the Federal Reserve Board with paper.

Processing these checks, he said, is expensive, time-consuming and geared to a completely obsolete technology.

Basically the checkless society would work in this way:

Employers, instead of sending checks to a worker, would merely contact his bank and credit his accounts with weekly or monthly salaries.

The employe making a purchase would present his cash card which would be inserted into a special machine hooked to the bank's computer. The computer would transfer funds.

To pay monthly rent, mortgage, telephone or doctor bills, a housewife merely would notify the bank whom to pay and how much. The computer would do the rest.

There's even a suggestion for a "dial-a-computer" where a bank customer could pick up the phone and ask the computer how much was left in his account. Statements would be issued by the bank showing each payment and the balance.

Coins still would be used for vending machines and dollar items. Mitchell said it probably would be impossible to eliminate all checks although the vast majority would disappear under the proposed system.

The checkless society, he said, would be much more efficient than present-day money operations, would save money and eliminate excessive paper shuffling.

"The cost savings here are fantastic," he added.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dress Sizes Are Baffling

Are women shrinking? What about these impossibly small dress sizes, 4 and 6? And in the junior range sizes 3, 5 and 7? Are these sizes justified by real figures?

Ida Jean Kain

What sent me searching the size question was reading that Betty Furness, age 51, and a grandmother, wears a size 6. Granted, she is slim and lissome. But size 6!

Watching a fashion showing, I inquired what size the model was wearing. "Size 3," says she. Further inquiry revealed she is 5' 6" and weighs 116 pounds. She is ultra streamlined. But size 3! Normally at that weight and height, this model would wear a size 10 or 11.

WHERE ARE sizes going? What will the fashion - minded coterie do when they get to size one — will they have a minus one?

The scientific sizing system, worked out by the U. S. Department of Commerce, in cooperation with the trade, was done to help you, the shopper, to get the best fit with fewer alterations.

Originally, the sizes were 8 to 22 in misses' and 10 to 20 in tall misses'. Women's sizes range from 30 to 42. Larger women sizes range from 42 to 52. Half-sizes are from 10½ to 24½. Junior sizes from 7 to 19.

In the survey which was the basis of the system, 10,000 women of all ages were weighed and measured. These figures represented averages. If clothes were designed strictly on averages, women wouldn't like them. No woman wants the square look. By emphasizing the height factor, manufacturers of women's clothes are able to do the best possible fashion job for all women in every size category.

NOW TO GET down to cases: Your dress size is governed by your height, combined with your weight and hip or waist girth. The waist was the crucial measurement. When the dress didn't fit around the waist, you were forced into the next larger size.

The rub there was that the next larger size was not intended for a woman as short as you. So the half-sizes were created, and proportioned wider at the waist. But women do not like half - sizes. The ingenious designers got out of that bind by simply eliminating the waistline altogether. They shifted to shifts.

Women are still women, and body measurements have not changed. But to cater to milady's vanity, manufacturers have juggled the labeling. They are letting style justify the size. And the style that is allowing for the diminutive size label is the lack of any fit at waist or hip.

Bellaire Lawyer Will Fill Post Of Late E. A. Sargus

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — Gov. James A. Rhodes has appointed Wilbur Y. Armstrong, a Bellaire lawyer, to be Belmont County's new probate and juvenile court judge.

Armstrong, whose appointment was recommended by the county's bar association and Republican executive committee, will succeed the late Judge Edmund A. Sargus, a Democrat.

Sargus, 56, died of a heart attack March 4 after serving less than a month of a six-year term.

A lawyer in Bellaire since 1930, Armstrong will serve until the November 1968 election. He is vice-chairman of the county's Republican executive committee.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

As Bad As TV Paints It?

Can we believe what we see on TV's news programs? This question is haunting more and more news people and sociologists, because the answer is becoming less definite and more complex.

Hal Humphrey

Henry Fairlie, a well-known British political commentator now covering Washington, has joined the skeptics who have decided TV distorts as much as it reports. He does not mean this distortion is deliberate but feels it is inherent in TV's nature to give viewers the illusion they are seeing the real thing, when actually they aren't.

-:-

WRITING in the spring issue of the quarterly Horizon magazine, Fairlie examines the problem from many angles, including a first-hand experience during the James Meredith civil rights march.

"The television news coverage, of the Meredith march across Mississippi, during the couple of days when I accompanied it myself, constantly appalled me," Fairlie writes. "It was near the beginning of the march, when it had barely gotten organized and when the numbers were few and the individuals composing the numbers were anything but impressive.

"All of the familiar hazards of television reporting were displayed. A straggling column (it was at the time little more) could be made on the small screen to look like an army. When the cameras were rolling, the marchers pulled themselves together and played the role expected of them. . ."

FAIRLIE faults the TV correspondents who do not "provide the corrective" for pictures like those he saw from the Meredith march.

"Most television reporting just describes the pictures and by doing so reinforces them," he says.

The "anchor" men in the TV studios also are unwitting accomplices to the distortion, Fairlie believes.

"There is something very professional and very engaging about the television manners of Chet Huntley and David Brinkley and Walter Cronkite," he points out. "All of them, in dissimilar ways, cultivate a dead-pan approach.

"In Huntley, it is made to suggest a judicial impartiality; in Brinkley, an ironical detachment; in Cronkite, an unfailing common sense. Each of them by his manner reinforces the impact of the pictures over which he is speaking, suggesting that they can be taken at face value."

IN THIS SENSE Fairlie agrees with the bumptious and ever-more-famous Toronto professor, Marshall McLuhan, who has proclaimed that "The Medium is the Message."

Newspapers prey on violence just as TV does, but the impact of violence on TV is much greater, as Fairlie says, because violence is movement and movement is what TV cannot help emphasizing.

And because TV news "jerks from incident to incident . . . it is almost impossible, these days, to consider any problem or any event except as a crisis; and, by this very way of looking at it, it in fact becomes a crisis," writes Fairlie.

He has no pat solution for slowing down this always-quickening process of generating anxiety to which millions of us are exposed daily by looking at the world through a TV tube.

BUT FAIRLIE does offer the following suggestion:

"Many of our unnecessary anxieties about the way in which we live, about the fearful things that may happen to us, might be allayed if television news began, now and then, to say: 'It has been a dull day. But we have collected some rather interesting pictures for you, of no particular significance.'

"Television news has a deep responsibility to try to be dull, from time to time, and let the world go to sleep."

That's a noble thought of Fairlie's, but if a Huntley or a Cronkite tried it just once, the sponsors would be down on him fast. Madison Avenue thrives on anxiety and sells denture stickum, dandruff remover and breath freshener to anxious people who at least want to look nice and feel presentable when the end of the world comes.

Local Union Pickets Middletown Hospital

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Pickets representing Local 1171 of the AFL-CIO Public Service Employes Union continued to walk outside Middletown Hospital Tuesday.

Hospital officials said picketing had no effect on the service. The union, which claims to represent 350 nonprofessional employes, but has not been recognized by the hospital management, struck Monday.

'Checkless Society'

Computer To Pay Grocery Bill At Supermarket

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the not too distant future, you'll walk into a supermarket, buy the week's groceries and order a computer to pay the bill without one penny or even a check changing hands.

That's the forecast of George W. Mitchell, a member of the Federal Reserve Board, in what he and the banking community term a "checkless society."

"It's coming very, very fast," Mitchell said today in an interview. "By the early 1970s, the system might be set up. When people find out it's easier and more convenient to do business this way they'll take to the change."

Mitchell said computers will make the new system possible but won't eliminate coins, dollar bills or some checks. But he and others foresee the "cash card" as the main money instrument of the future.

Mitchell said it will have one excellent side effect — eliminating checks which might bounce.

Coins and currency make up slightly more than $39 billion of a total supply of money exceeding $173 billion. The remaining $134 billion is in 70 million checking accounts.

Mitchell, who is working on the checkless society idea for the board, estimated that Americans write at least 60 million checks each day, inundating bankers and the Federal Reserve Board with paper.

Processing these checks, he said, is expensive, time-consuming and geared to a completely obsolete technology.

Employers, instead of sending checks to a worker, would merely contact his bank and credit his accounts with weekly or monthly salaries.

The employe making a purchase would present his cash card which would be inserted into a special machine hooked to the bank's computer. The computer would transfer funds.

To pay monthly rent, mortgage, telephone or doctor bills, a housewife merely would notify the bank whom to pay and how much. The computer would do the rest.

There's even a suggestion for a "dial-a-computer" where a bank customer could pick up the phone and ask the computer how much was left in his account. Statements would be issued by the bank showing each payment and the balance.

Coins still would be used for vending machines and dollar items. Mitchell said it probably would be impossible to eliminate all checks although the vast majority would disappear under the proposed system.

The checkless society, he said, would be much more efficient than present-day money operations, would save money and eliminate excessive paper shuffling.

"The cost savings here are fantastic," he added.

Dress Sizes Are Baffling

Are women shrinking? What about these impossibly small dress sizes, 4 and 6? And in the junior range sizes 3, 5 and 7? Are these sizes justified by real figures?

Ida Jean Kain

What sent me searching the size question was reading that Betty Furness, age 51, and a grandmother, wears a size 6. Granted, she is slim and lissome. But size 6!

Watching a fashion showing, I inquired what size the model was wearing. "Size 3," says she. Further inquiry revealed she is 5' 6" and weighs 116 pounds. She is ultra streamlined. But size 3! Normally at that weight and height, this model would wear a size 10 or 11.

WHERE ARE sizes going? What will the fashion - minded coterie do when they get to size one — will they have a minus one?

The scientific sizing system, worked out by the U. S. Department of Commerce, in cooperation with the trade, was done to help you, the shopper, to get the best fit with fewer alterations.

Originally, the sizes were 8 to 22 in misses' and 10 to 20 in tall misses'. Women's sizes range from 30 to 42. Larger women sizes range from 42 to 52. Half-sizes are from 10½ to 24½. Junior sizes from 7 to 19.

In the survey which was the basis of the system, 10,000 women of all ages were weighed and measured. These figures represented averages. If clothes were designed strictly on averages, women wouldn't like them. No woman wants the square look. By emphasizing the height factor, manufacturers of women's clothes are able to do the best possible fashion job for all women in every size category.

NOW TO GET down to cases: Your dress size is governed by your height, combined with your weight and hip or waist girth. The waist was the crucial measurement. When the dress didn't fit around the waist, you were forced into the next larger size.

The rub there was that the next larger size was not intended for a woman as short as you. So the half-sizes were created, and proportioned wider at the waist. But women do not like half - sizes. The ingenious designers got out of that bind by simply eliminating the waistline altogether. They shifted to shifts.

Women are still women, and body measurements have not changed. But to cater to milady's vanity, manufacturers have juggled the labeling. They are letting style justify the size. And the style that is allowing for the diminutive size label is the lack of any fit at waist or hip.

Bellaire Lawyer Will Fill Post Of Late E. A. Sargus

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — Gov. James A. Rhodes has appointed Wilbur Y. Armstrong, a Bellaire lawyer, to be Belmont County's new probate and juvenile court judge.

Armstrong, whose appointment was recommended by the county's bar association and Republican executive committee, will succeed the late Judge Edmund A. Sargus, a Democrat.

Sargus, 56, died of a heart attack March 4 after serving less than a month of a six-year term.

A lawyer in Bellaire since 1930, Armstrong will serve until the November 1968 election. He is vice-chairman of the county's Republican executive committee.

Every Home Has Dust

By Allergy Foundation of America

If the doctor tells you that you have a case of "allergic rhinitis," don't faint.

It means inflation of the nasal passages due to allergic causes. In other words, a constant stuffed-up nose.

This is one of the common allergies. House dust is to blame.

It isn't that the wife can't qualify as a good housekeeper. Using the entire arsenal of modern cleaning devices, with all the time in the world, she couldn't rid the house of all its dust.

—:—

A crazy mixture of who-knows-what goes into dust. One recipe, if you were making it up, would include:

Carpet fibers, cement crumbs from basement, furniture upholstery particles, tiny molecules of plaster, insulation, paint, wallpaper, cigaret smoke, cooking fumes, fireplace ashes, kitchen spices and cosmetics.

Add dog or cat dander, lint from blankets, sheets, clothing and toys. Add a pinch of dirt brought in by shoes, some mold and bacteria and you've got it.

These are only some of the supposedly harmless things we come into contact with. The whole potpourri is stirred up and distributed to every corner of the most carefully kept homes by our heating systems, some of which could not have been more efficiently designed to do this job.

THEN, TOO, there's a lowering of humidity when the house is closed, itself a prominent name in the allergy detective's suspect book.

Rhinitis is one of the milder reactions to house dust. Dust can be considered a factor in any respiratory difficulty until ruled out.

In chronic cases of asthma and other more serious forms, the doctor would direct drastic measures to make the home as dust - free as possible, going as far as to encase blankets in allergy - proof covers or stripping the walls of all pictures and other decorations.

There's an easier way to fight back at those things that seem to hate you personally.

"The best treatment for a patient allergic to sensitizing agents in the home is a medical treatment," says the handbook, "Allergy," just published by the Allergy Foundation of America.

"That means skin tests to find what the agent (allergen) or agents are, then comes desensitization, small doses of the allergen until the body can fight off attacks of the allergen when it encounters it.

What is described is the basic medical treatment for controlling most allergies and the best hope in outwitting them.

Kentucky Educator To Help With Colombia Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The public may think of Peace Corpsmen mostly as low-paid, college-age idealists. But there is opportunity to serve — at pretty fair wages — for older men and women with management know-how.

Take Dr. Stephen Dachi, chairman of a department at the University of Kentucky's College of Dentistry. He'll be going to South America July 1 to help direct the Peace Corps program in Colombia.

Dr. Dachi is one of 70 persons — chosen from 5,500 applicants — who'll be replacing Peace Corps staff personnel overseas in the next six months at salaries up to $23,000 a year.

One of the reasons they're changing jobs is Margaret M. Conroy, an attractive 30-year-old former New Yorker who has been the Peace Corps' chief talent scout since Dec. 6.

"Things have really been hectic during these past few months," she said in an interview. "We've received 1,500 applications for jobs from people around the country. And we have about 4,000 applications from returning volunteers."

Miss Conroy, whose official title is director of the Peace Corps talent search, heads a staff of 11, including 4 interviewers.

Their job: Recruit people with the ability to administer Peace Corps programs.

Staff members serve as Foreign Service officers under a 30-month contract. Although a second 30-month tour is possible, staff members by design do not have career tenure as do civil service employes.

Salaries start at $7,500 and depend on the person and his experience, not necessarily the job.

Miss Conroy says her staff is well advanced in filling the 70 vacancies for overseas jobs which will begin opening July 1. There also will be 24 openings in Washington.

Miss Conroy said she has made two recruiting changes since taking over:

—Interviewers have gone to major cities to talk with interested applicants. Previously, all interviewing was done in Washington.

—One recruiter concentrates only on women and minority groups such as Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

Every Home Has Dust

By Aliergy Foundation of America

If the doctor tells you that you have a case of "allergic rhinitis," don't faint.

It means inflation of the nasal passages due to allergic causes. In other words, a constant stuffed-up nose.

This is one of the common allergies. House dust is to blame.

It isn't that the wife can't qualify as a good housekeeper. Using the entire arsenal of modern cleaning devices, with all the time in the world, she couldn't rid the house of all its dust.

—:—

A crazy mixture of who-knows-what goes into dust. One recipe, if you were making it up, would include:

Carpet fibers, cement crumbs from basement, furniture upholstery particles, tiny molecules of plaster, insulation, paint, wallpaper, cigaret smoke, cooking fumes, fireplace ashes, kitchen spices and cosmetics.

Add dog or cat dander, lint from blankets, sheets, clothing and toys. Add a pinch of dirt brought in by shoes, some mold and bacteria and you've got it.

These are only some of the supposedly harmless things we come into contact with. The whole potpourri is stirred up and distributed to every corner of the most carefully kept homes by our heating systems, some of which could not have been more efficiently designed to do this job.

THEN, TOO, there's a lowering of humidity when the house is closed, itself a prominent name in the allergy detective's suspect book.

Rhinitis is one of the milder reactions to house dust. Dust can be considered a factor in any respiratory difficulty until ruled out.

In chronic cases of asthma and other more serious forms, the doctor would direct drastic measures to make the home as dust - free as possible, going as far as to encase blankets in allergy - proof covers or stripping the walls of all pictures and other decorations.

There's an easier way to fight back at those things that seem to hate you personally.

"The best treatment for a patient allergic to sensitizing agents in the home is a medical treatment," says the handbook, "Allergy," just published by the Allergy Foundation of America.

"That means skin tests to find what the agent (allergen) or agents are, then comes desensitization, small doses of the allergen until the body can fight off attacks of the allergen when it encounters it.

What is described is the basic medical treatment for controlling most allergies and the best hope in outwitting them.

Kentucky Educator To Help With Colombia Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The public may think of Peace Corpsmen mostly as low-paid, college-age idealists. But there is opportunity to serve — at pretty fair wages — for older men and women with management know-how.

Take Dr. Stephen Dachi, chairman of a department at the University of Kentucky's College of Dentistry. He'll be going to South America July 1 to help direct the Peace Corps program in Colombia.

Dr. Dachi is one of 70 persons — chosen from 5,500 applicants — who'll be replacing Peace Corps staff personnel overseas in the next six months at salaries up to $23,000 a year.

One of the reasons they're changing jobs is Margaret M. Conroy, an attractive 30-year-old former New Yorker who has been the Peace Corps' chief talent scout since Dec. 6.

"Things have really been hectic during these past few months," she said in an interview. "We've received 1,500 applications for jobs from people around the country. And we have about 4,000 applications from returning volunteers."

Miss Conroy, whose official title is director of the Peace Corps talent search, heads a staff of 11, including 4 interviewers.

Their job: Recruit people with the ability to administer Peace Corps programs.

Staff members serve as Foreign Service officers under a 30-month contract. Although a second 30-month tour is possible, staff members by design do not have career tenure as do civil service employes.

Salaries start at $7,500 and depend on the person and his experience, not necessarily the job.

Miss Conroy says her staff is well advanced in filling the 70 vacancies for overseas jobs which will begin opening July 1. There also will be 24 openings in Washington.

Miss Conroy said she has made two recruiting changes since taking over:

—Interviewers have gone to major cities to talk with interested applicants. Previously, all interviewing was done in Washington.

—One recruiter concentrates only on women and minority groups such as Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

Good two family home at 246 MOORE STREET bringing in excellent income for just $6,500.

Nice one story five room and bath home at 341 SARAH STREET for just $5,700.00 with a $300.00 down payment and very small monthly payment.

$4,000.00 seems very little to pay for this two story five room home at 309 OGDEN STREET. Nice high location with gas heat and good condition for the price.

Junior Editors Quiz on MICROSCOPE

QUESTION: I got a microscope as a gift. What experiments should I make?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: If your microscope is like the one our boys are using, you will be looking at things so small that the light will come through them. Be sure to adjust the mirror under the stage so it is bright when you look down through the eyepiece. The scrape off a very thing bit of skin from one of the outer layers of an onion. Put it on a glass slide, with another slide over it. Slip both sides under the clips on the stage. Move focusing wheel and you will get a fine idea of what plant cells look like. Then try crumbs and hairs from your head. But the greatest fun is to make a hay infusion. Put some dry hay or dead grass in a jar with warm water. Add a boulilin cube and let stand for a few days in a warm place. Then examine the water. You should see tiny one-celled animals, or protoza, swimming around. To make a simple microscope, wrap a thin wire around a nail, making a quarter inch loop in the end. Dip into water. When lifted out, water will stay inside loop and act like a magnifying glass.
